Controversial Vote Dissolves Separate Civil Rights Office

A vote last week by Borough Council and Township Committee approved the creation of a new joint entity that would deliver social services to Princeton residents, despite profound disagreement over the inclusion of the Office of Civil Rights in the newly created Human Services Department. Unlike civil rights, the enfolding of welfare, senior services, and youth services into the new department ignited no controversy.

The Civil Rights Office is currently directed by the Rev. Michael Nabors, who was hired on a consultant's basis in August 1996 after the dismissal ol Ovie Lattimore as director of civil rights. Mr. Nabors took over on a full-time consultant's' basis in March 1997. Mr. Lattimore has since filed suit against Princeton over his dismissal.

Councilwoman Sandra Starr, who took an active role in developing the new Human Services Department, said she anticipated more civil rights programs coming in as a result of the new agency, particularly since the annual budget for the Human Services Department includes $21,000 for a civil rights consultant.

"We are saying to the Civil Rights Commission, we're reducing your staff, money, and the whole scheme of the commission,"

Frank, Bialek, Wainer Are Victorious In School Election; Budget Passes

Township and Borough votera on Tuesdey elected three newcomers to the Princeton Regionel School Board: Walter Frank from the Borough; Charlotte Blalek and Howerd Wainer from the Township.

Votera eleo approved the Princeton Regionel budget of $34.8 million, 1379 to 1186. The vote waa 969 to 842 in the Township; 410 to 344 in the Borough.

Unofficial finel tallies for the two Township seats ahowed 1382 for Ms. Blalek; 1159 for Mr. Weiner; and 832 for incumbent Todd Tieger.

In the Borough, Mr. Frank received 362 votes to Ms. Thoyer's 330. At preaa time, all reaulta wera still pending certification by the state.

All new members were elected to full three-yaer terma. Ms. Blalek end Mr. Wainer replece Devid Robbins and Mr. Tieger; while Mr. Frenk will take the place of Borough representative Steva Carson.

About 20.4 percent of the Townahip'a eligible voters cast ballots, while in the Borough, 8.69 percent of the registered voters came to the polls.

The 8.95 percent budget increase represents e hike of $3.15 million over the 1997-98 budget. Borough taxes will increase by approximately $77.50 per $100,000 of assessed property valuation; Township property taxes will increase approximately $71.90 per $100,000 of assessed valuation.

The owner of an average Borough home, assessed at $405,495, will, therefore, pay about $314 more in fiscal yeer 1998-99; while the taxes of an average Townahip home owner (average homa assessed at $396,011) will be ebout $285 more.

Endorsed before the election by five of the seven aitting board members, the budgat became an important part of the campaign, as candidatea made scrutiny of the increase an issue.

Other cempaign laauee were edministrative instability end the buyout of Superintendant Mercia Boasart. Mr. Tieger, the sole incumbent in the running, wes frequently challenged to defend the boerd's action, both in endoreing the budgat and in negotiating the settlement with Dr. Bossart.

Expenaes during the next acedemic year will include e major cepital improvements project ($1.9 million); employee benefits of $3.6 million; e peyment to tha Charter Schoot of at leaat $800,000; and $13 million for ragular program inatruction.

A number of progrem chengee ere enticipatad, auch aa the introduction of a world languages curriculum — which will necessitate four additional teachers — and a new mathemetics curriculum (K-5). Board mambers have called for a thorough re-evaluation of alf program content.

Current membera have committed the board to an ongoing evaluation of minority achievement end to continued support of academicelly challenged atudents.

The naw Board membera will be sworn into office at a reorganization meeting on Tueeday, Aprll 28, at 8 p.m., at John Witherapoon Middle School.

Township Reconsiders Zoning Ordinance; Residents Applaud Their Right to Appeal

An ordinance enacted by Township Committee last month, denying citizens the right to appeal any zoning board approvals to the Committee, has had residents of the Princeton Medical Center neighborhood up in arms.

Led by Norman Winarsky, Moore Street, residents turned out en masse for the Committee meeting on April 20, prepared to fight for the ordinance to be revoked. As it turned out, battle mode was unnecessary.

A leaflet distributed last weekend to homeowners on Jefferson, Moore, Harris, and other nearby streets points out that if the ordinance remains on the books, "Citizen protests will now have to be taken to the state Superior Court, rather than be heard by local political representatives."

The Committee decision to stop hearing appeals, the writers emphasize, would have immediate ramifications for the hospital neighborhood, which is currently the subject of a use variance appeal.

The Zoning Board is scheduled to hear a hospital request for a variance to convert seven houses to office use on Wednesday, April 22.

Zoning Ordinance

"If the hospital gets its variance from the Zoning Board we will not be able to appeal locally," the leaflet warns. "Applicants with business incentive will know they can circumvent the system when neighborhoods are not wealthy."

Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer explained to residents on April 20, that the local ordinance had been passed to bring Township statutes into line with a new state law, prohibiting land use appeals to municipal bodies.

The only exception, he noted, is the appeal of a zoning decision approving development. The Committee felt it would be "neater" to eliminate all appeals, he said. It would also involve considerably less paperwork.

A number of neighboring communities with similar concerns — including Hamilton Township, Hopewell, and West Windsor — have recently passed ordinances eliminating all zoning appeals to municipal government, he said. He added, "It is certainly a decision that we can re-visit."

At that point, Mayor Phyllis Marchand took the floor to announce that she had polled Committee members already and felt there was a "consensus to re-do the ordinance" and to restore the right of citizens to appeal to the Committee.

Committeeman Steven Frakt asked whether it might be possible to limit the right of appeal to non-residential variances, so the Committee could avoid becoming involved in neighborhood squabbles.

"The legislation says any appeal," Mr. Schmierer declared. "We don't get many; and I wouldn't like to include a caveat."

Michele Tuck-Ponder, admitting that she had been "really spooked" by the ALK application, a zoning variance application that continued for nine months, said she would like to explain her decision to re-consider the land use appeal ordinance.

"My job is really to sit here and listen," she said. "Even though I feel it would be more effective to let appeals go to Superior Court, I also have decided some things are more important than being effective."

"We were abrogating our responsibility [when we voted for the ordinance]," Roz Denard agreed. "The most important cases will probably bypass the Township Committee anyway," Mr. Godfrey commented.

"I've heard good explanations," added Mr. Frakt. "I'm ready to change my mind."

Mr. Winarsky seized the microphone to declare, "I thank you all for making a wonderfully brilliant decision!" Others applauded.

"You have committed an act of real intelligence and courage," added Beth Healey, Moore Street. "Everyone listened. Our congratulations and thanks."

"Now is the time to raise taxes quickly!" responded Mr. Frakt.

There will be a public hearing on May 11, on an ordinance restoring the right of appeal in cases of land use variance approval.

An appeal to the Township would have to be filed within ten days, according to Mr. Schmierer. A $50 filing fee would be involved; the appellants would have to obtain transcripts of the Zoning Board hearings; and they would have to supply their own stenographer. If they were dissatisfied with the Township's disposal of the case, the matter could still be appealed to Superior Court.

Volunteer Shopper Needed for Shut-In

The HomeFriends Program is looking for a caring person who lives in Princeton Borough or Township and would be willing to help a homebound woman with her food shopping once a week. When this elderly, long-time Princetonian feels well enough, she can occasionally go with you and do her own shopping. At other times you can get her shopping list over the phone, do her shopping for her, and bring her groceries back to her apartment. She would appreciate it if you would also help her unload and put away her purchases.

The HomeFriends Program is one of the many programs of the Princeton Senior Resource Center. Volunteers visit, shop, provide transportation, read aloud to those with vision impairment, and help with paperwork. Volunteers receive on-going monitoring and training, and the HomeFriends director is always available to address questions or concerns.

If you are interested in being a HomeFriends shopper, please call Francesca at 924-7108.

THE OTHER SIDE OF WELLER: The type and number of fields at Weller Park have been the subject of much discussion. But the park will also include a large section devoted to passive recreation, a portion of which is shown above.

Constructing Baseball Field at Weller Park Is Recommended by the Planning Board

With the same number of Planning Board members sitting on their hands as voting, the Planning Board last Thursday night voted 3-2 in favor of including a baseball field in the new Weller Park.

The Planning Board was acting in an advisory role to Township Committee, which must make the final decision about what the park will contain.

The proposed construction of a baseball field, to be used in part for Babe Ruth and American Legion play, has led to many complaints by neighbors, while few negative comments have been directed against creating all-purpose and soccer fields. A number of nearby residents have asked that baseball be barred from the park, with several stating that they had believed the purpose of the park was to meet the soccer needs of the Princeton community.

Planning Board members Philip Feig, Joseph O'Neill and Corinne Kyle supported the construction of a baseball field in the park. Margen Pen-ick and Bill Enslin voted against it. Abstaining were Richard Sinding, Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand, Township Committeeman Steve Frakt, Borough Mayor Marvin Reed, and Borough Councilwoman Sandra Starr.

The two Township officials abstained because Township Committee will have the final say on the design of the park, and they will have an opportunity to vote at that time.

Mayor Reed pointed out earlier in the meeting that Borough Council had passed a resolution asking Township Committee for a say in the development of Weller Park in light of the Borough's contribution of $480,000 toward acquisition of the land.

After Mayor Marchand suggested that the two Borough officials should vote at the Planning Board meeting, "because they may have no other input than as Planning Board members," both Mr. Reed and Ms. Starr went into a mode of abstention.

They abstained on voting whether the new park should use some of the adjoining Van Dyke Wight property (approved by the Planning Board) and whether the park should contain four fields (also approved).

Mayor Reed, pointing out that the Township had already accepted the Borough's $480,000, said, "If you don't want to confer with us, we will think about that next time we consider any appropriation."

Early in the meeting, two plans developed by the Township landscape architect consultant, Dan Doberomilsky, were presented. The first included four fields, but not a baseball field; The second included a baseball field, along with three other fields for soccer and for multi-purpose use. An earlier plan, prepared by Lord Anderson Worrell, had called for three fields: a soccer, baseball, and all-purpose.

Several weeks ago, Planning Board chair Corinne Kyle announced that a baseball field might be able to be built at Community Park instead of on the Weller tract. At the Planning Board meeting last Thursday, she reported that those officials who had looked into this had possibly been too optimistic.

"This would take more money than is in the bonding budgets of the Township and Borough," she said. It was also noted later in the meeting that an evaluation of the danger posed by sinkholes in the park would have to be done before a new field could be built.

Weller Park

the Weller Tract spoke in opposition on several different issues.

Bertrand Drive resident Sally Branon said she was deeply concerned about encroaching into the Van Dyke Wight tract.

"This park is being horseshoed into our back yards," said Ellen Souter. "Your responsibility is to find a place where this size and density belong. We don't need a park. We want it downsized."

Several spoke of how dangerous a road Snowden Lane is, and a Dodds Lane resident said that Josie Hall, the late Township Mayor, had said Van Dyke Wight would be used only for passive recreation.

Robert von Zumbusch, who said he was speaking for the Weller Park Subcommittee of Friends of Princeton Open Space, said the new plans left most of the group's concerns unaddressed. One concern he specified was the extent to which the landscape would be reconfigured.

Herrontown Road resident James Mahon, an advocate of building a baseball field at Weller Park, assured everyone that there would be no lights on the field. "American Legion fields don't need lights," he said. "Soccer seems to be preferred to baseball. There is really no difference between the two."

Mr. Mahon said that American Legion baseball players range in age from 13 to 18, and that their play is supervised by adults.

Mr. Enslin insisted that purchase of the Weller tract came up when Princeton University proposed ending the use of its fields along Washington Road for soccer. "The original need was to meet the need for soccer fields," he said.

Mayor Reed disagreed. "At the time Borough Council voted to put money into the park, soccer wasn't the only thing. It was to be a multiple-use area for a variety of needs."

The greatest need, asserted Mrs. Penick, is for four soccer fields, one with a softball overlay. "We need a first-class baseball field, which would be appropriate for Community Park," she said. "But when we build fields for older kids we should have bleachers, a backstop, dugouts, a perimeter fence, and a warning track. Community Park is centrally located for teams coming into town. They can find it easily."

Ms. Starr said she has been assured that an American Legion field does not require lights. "This is a red herring. The baseball community deserves a new place to play."

Having made its recommendations, the venue for further discussions on the development of Weller Park should now switch from the Planning Board to Township Committee.

Weller Park, in Princeton Township, is bounded by Snowden Lane, Herrontown Road, and Caldwell Drive. Olden Lane resident Stanley Smoyer has pledged $1 million for the development of the park in memory of his late wife, Barbara Smoyer.

The land was purchased by Princeton Township for $1.8 million from the estate of Jac Weller. In addition to the $480,000 contributed by Princeton Borough, $375,000 toward the purchase will come from a Greenacres grant.

Special Needs Issues Raised at Forum On Language Study

The introduction of Spanish as a subject in the Princeton Regional elementary schools will not deprive children of the opportunity to study additional languages in middle school and high school.

At a public forum on district world language initiatives held April 16, at the Valley Road administration building, Martin Smith, the district's supervisor of world languages, made it clear that teaching Spanish to the youngest children will not preclude the study of other languages later.

On the contrary, Dr. Smith pointed out, research shows that study of one foreign language facilitates the learning of a second one.

Research also indicates, Mr. Smith noted, that children are able to learn a foreign language much more rapidly before the age of puberty than they are in middle school or high school, where foreign language study usually begins.

The proposal to introduce Spanish in second and fifth grades in the fall is contained in a report prepared by a district World Language Committee, composed of classroom teachers, language specialists, parents, and administrators.

It was prompted by new state core curriculum standards requiring that by the year 2000-01, fourth grade students be able to pass a foreign language test; the standards also mandate that today's fourth grade students be able to meet a world language high school graduation requirement.

The forum was convened to explain the report to parents and other interested members of the community. The decision to offer Spanish, Dr. Smith emphasized, was based on the results of a questionnaire sent to every elementary school parent. Of the 500 parents who responded, 51 percent stated that Spanish would be their language preference. French came in second, at 26 percent.

Difficulty with English

Several parents raised questions about the suitability of elementary language study for all children. Jane Sheehan, president of the Special Education Parent Teacher Organization, asked what kind of program was in place for children whose learning disabilities make it difficult for them to communicate even in English.

She explained that a child who has difficulty processing language will have that difficulty at any age. "No matter how young you start, the child will need special help," she said.

Robert Ginsberg, acting assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction, declared that district personnel will be developing the language program throughout the spring and summer and will look at the needs of special education students.

Another question concerned the student in a bilingual household, who already speaks two languages. The issue was raised by S. Haru-toonian, whose children speak English and Persian.

"We don't have the answer yet," repeated Dr. Ginsberg, "but it is a legitimate issue. We are not looking at requiring three languages; we need to get some help on this from the state."

Then there was Arthur Warner, a minority of one, who insisted that, "The idea of teaching a foreign language to second grade students is subversive of the primacy of English! What educational philosophy lets teachers poll parents in order to decide what language to teach?" he demanded.

Widely Spoken

Dr. Smith responded that the study of any language would allow students to "access the benefits of a foreign language" and that today Spanish is one of the most widely spoken languages in the world — as well as in the district. He assured parents, also, that language study themes would be integrated with other curriculum subjects.

There is currently no formal language curriculum in the regional schools until the sixth grade — and then it is optional. French and Spanish are both offered at the John Witherspoon Middle School.

In high school, French and Spanish are continued; German is offered for two years; and Italian and Latin may be studied for four years. There is, however, no language requirement for graduation.

The new curriculum standards mandate that each student in a New Jersey public

Princeton Township Approves $21.3 Million Operating Budget

Township Committee on April 20, approved a municipal operating budget of $21.3 million. The total amount to be raised by municipal taxation is $8.86 million, which represents a tax increase of $80 in fiscal year 1998, based on an average residential assessment of $395,200. The increase for a property assessed at $100,000 would be about $20.

Half the municipal tax increase — a two-cent hike for every $100 of assessed valuation — will be levied to pay recycling costs previously borne by the county. The total amount is approximately $176,000.

To avoid raising the tax rate, part of the recycling costs will be funded by surplus monies, according to John Clawson, chief financial officer.

The budget does not include funds to be raised by an open space tax of one cent per $100 of assessed valuation, which voters approved last November for the purpose of land acquisition and preservation.

It also does not include a separate budget for capital improvements, to be introduced next month.

Tax rates for the Princeton Regional School District have yet to be determined, as do Mercer County tax rates, which will be added to the municipal rate.

LANDAU CELEBRATES SURVIVAL from the Clouds of BANKRUPTCY!

Thanks to the overwhelming support of the Princeton Community, we've worked through the Bankruptcy Court system and emerged, as... LANDAU'S.

We're back (even though we haven't gone anywhere). We're basically the same (third generation, family owned and run, quality conscious, service and consumer oriented). But we're also different. During our Bankruptcy sale you convinced us that top quality products are still desired, if the pricing represents excellent value. We have gotten the message. Our new Pricing Policy:

NO REGULAR PRICES

All Top Quality, Hard-To-Find Landau Merchandise Marked Down (Right Out of the Box)

20% to 50% OFF

PLUS, a greatly expanded Men's Department.

AND, if we make an outrstanding buy (at any time during the year), you will be offered exceptional special purchases at 50% to 75% savings in the heat (or cold) of the season. (We've just gotten in a women's $245 2-ply 100% Cashmere Turtleneck – that feels like 3-ply – offered in April for $99.)

school be able to "communicate at a basic literacy level (listening, speaking, reading, writing) in at least one language other than English."

Standards also require students to "demonstrate an understanding of the interrelationship between language and culture ..."

The state recommends a language program from kindergarten through 12th grade, with testing to occur in grades four, eight, and 11.

The district report suggests that in 1998-99, two teachers be hired to start teaching Spanish; and that two language instructors be engaged at the Middle School, as well, so that all students there may study language.

If the report is accepted, in 1998-99, Spanish will be added in grades one and three, necessitating the engagement of two additional teachers; and in 2000-01, two more language teachers will be hired, sn kindergarten students and fourth grade children can start learning the language.

Once the program is under way, children will have had six years of language study by the time they reach middle school, Dr. Smith noted. They will then have the option of switching to a second language, or taking courses in two languages at once.

"How can you add a second language in middle school?" demanded board member Steve Carson. "One language already has an impact on other classes." He added that his daughter, a high school student, found it "impossible" to study a second language because of scheduling conflicts.

Dr. Ginsberg repeated that there are still a number of issues to be resolved. "We want to go forward now with what we consider a strong, viable program," he said. "It is not necessarily the final program."

Sunday Deer Versus Car Crash Leaves Several People Injured

A serious accident involving two cars and a deer sent one man to the hospital and left three others slightly injured Sunday evening.

Unlike most deer v. car accidents, this was remarkable for its violence. A 1998 Mercedes driven by Mary Bell, 39, of Highland Terrace, was traveling west on Stuart Road near Hardy Drive when the car struck a deer. The impact threw the deer into the oncoming lane, where it struck a 1989 Toyota driven by James Hook, 44, of Woodside Lane. Mr. Hook had an adult passenger in the front seat and three children, ages 6, 9, and 11 in the back seat.

The deer went through the windshield of Mr. Hook's car, over the back seat, and crashed through the rear window.

Mr. Hook was the only person seriously injured in the accident. He was transported to Helene Fuld Medical Center in Trenton, where he was treated for head injuries and released on Monday. Three of the four passengers in the car were treated for cuts and bruises at the Medical Center at Princeton. Neither Ms. Bell nor her passenger was injured.

Downtown Development To Be Meeting Subject

A.C. Reeves Hicks, chairman of the Princeton Business Association, has announced that the association will sponsor another meeting to discuss the future development of Princeton's central business district, on Wednesday, April 29, at 5, in the Princeton Room of the Nassau Inn.

The group will review ideas recently discussed, will examine new initiatives and directions, and will get a glimpse of Palmer Square and Nassau Inn expansion plans.

A discussion of Borough plans for the center of town will also take place. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend. To register, call the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area, at 520-1776.

Hospital Reports Eight Births to Area Couples

The Medical Center at Princeton reports eight births to area residents during the week ending April 16.

Daughters were born on April 11, to Princeton residents Horacio and Maria Marquez and John and Tracy Venus. Daughters were also born, on April 12, to Rahive and Sudha Bansal, Plainsboro, and Toru and Taeko Kanno, Princeton; as well as to Richard and Nanci Dobbins, Plainsboro, on April 15; and Jeffrey and Risa Schittin, Princeton Junction, on April 17.

Sons were born to Princeton residents Thomas and Jane Von Oehsen, on April 13; and to Kathy and and Louis Mendes, also of Princeton, on April 17.

Assault Charges Filed Against Local Woman After Monday Attack

A Jefferson Road woman faces charges for assault and aggravated assault, following an incident at the Mountain Lakes Preserve on Monday. Police allege that architect Eva Raldow, 49, punched a man, and then tried to run him and his wife down with her car.

The alleged assault is believed to have its roots in an ongoing dispute between the parties involved. According to a report released by the Township Police, Ms. Raldow followed the victims, a 68-year-old man and his 69-year-old wife, to the Mountain Lakes Preserve in her car at 4:48 p.m. Following a verbal confrontation, Ms. Raldow punched the man in the face, and then got into her car and attempted to run the couple down.

She was arrested on payment of 10 percent of $10,000 bail, and was expected to appear in court on Tuesday afternoon.

Police found an unconscious 17-year-old Borough girl near 239 Nassau Street just after midnight on Wednesday. She was found to be under the influence of heroin, and was taken to the Medical Center for treatment.

In her possession, police found unspecified drugs and drug paraphernalia.

She was later charged with juvenile delinquency and released to a parent, pending action by the juvenile officer.

Two University students were stopped by police on Wednesday, after one of them used false identification to purchase alcohol at a Nassau Street store, and then gave it to the other.

Brett Shore, 18, of Lourie Love Hall, was charged with using false identification while purchasing alcohol, and serving alcoholic beverages to a minor. Thomas E. Ross, 19, was charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Both were released with a complaint summons.

Police Bag Hunter

A Trenton man hunting with a shotgun in the woods near Drakes Corner Road was arrested Thursday morning, after a police officer on patrol spotted his parked truck and decided to investigate.

Brian Marchetti, 30, of Roebling Avenue in Trenton, was charged with unlawful possession of a weapon, possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose, and several Fish and Game violations. There was no game in season at the time of his arrest.

Mr. Marchetti was released on his own recognizance, pending a May 5 court appearance.

A Massachusetts woman was charged with driving while intoxicated on Saturday, after her 1996 Chevrolet was spotted moving erratically on Stockton Street at 2:07 a.m.

Allison Korleski, 28, of Cambridge, Mass., was charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to keep right. She was released on $250 ball with a court

Neck Massage at Wild Oats Rejected by Zoning Board

If you're thinking of getting a neck massage, don't go to Wild Oats.

At last Wednesday night's meeting of the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment, members voted not to permit Wild Oats Market to set up a chair for neck massage. But the Board did vote to allow the new store, which has moved into the former Davidson's market on Nassau Street, to install 25 seats and to use one of three upstairs rental apartments for offices.

The store's general manager, Bruce Perlstein, testified that all the other 54 stores in the Colorado-based natural foods chain provided tables for people to sit at and eat items purchased in the store. He asked for permission to include in the Princeton location 21 seats in the front, near the window, and four seats at the juice/coffee counter.

The front seating would be located to the right of the checkout counters, as one faced them. There would be six tables, with two chairs at each table, and a counter along the store's front window. The counter will seat nine.

Shirley Kauffman was the only Board member to vote against allowing the seating.

Ms. Kauffman had more support when it came to the question of neck massage. Ann McGoldrick said she was not comfortable with a personal service being placed within a food establishment, and wondered whether a tanning booth, or perhaps a manicurist, might be next.

Mr. Perlstein said that he had visited 12 or 13 Wild Oats stores, and each one offered neck massage.

Zoning Board Chair Barrie Royce also wondered whether neck massage might be only a first step. "I've spent time in France, and they're selling vacuum cleaners in grocery stores there," he said. "I don't want to see a proposal, for example, to sell gas cookers, with Mrs. G having a little outlet there."

The only member of the public present at the meeting was Murray Place resident Ben Jenson, who noted that he had worked closely with the late Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund on Davidson's move to the current Wild Oats site. He supported the addition of seating in the store, but said that, somehow, food and massage didn't seem to be in the same category.

Russ McFarlan pointed to stores he had seen in Denver, and said that the Zoning Board might have an archaic definition of retail. Neck massage, he suggested, could well be appropriate in a store that sells herbs and natural foods.

"I see no harm in it," said Kenneth Kehrer. "It seems small, I urge you to support it."

Four Zoning Board members voted to permit Wild Oats to add neck massage. They were Mark Sanders, Barrie Royce, Kenneth Kehrer, and Russ McFarlan. Five votes, however, were needed for passage. Ann McGoldrick and Shirley Kauffman voted against the request.

If neck massage had been permitted in Wild Oats, it would have cost $15 for ten minutes.

appearance scheduled for Monday.

A man who presented a counterfeit insurance card during a motor vehicle stop Wednesday evening, was arrested by a Borough Police officer.

Roberto Bourdoin Jr., of Jersey City, was released with a complaint summons pending a court appearance.

An unknown thief stole $1001.96 in cash from the Peacock Inn at 20 Bayard Lane last week. The theft took place between 8:30 p.m. on April 12 and 2:30 p.m. on April 14.

No further information was available.

A $235 Helium Neon Gas laser was stolen from a McDonald Hall laboratory on the University campus between 10 a.m. on April 14 and 9 a.m. the next day.

Victim Grabs Vandals

A man returning to his pickup truck, which he had parked on Grover Avenue on Wednesday, heard the sound of air escaping from the truck's tires and spotted two young boys running away from the truck.

He pursued them in a second vehicle and caught them, along with a third boy. Investigation by the Township Police revealed that the boys had slashed a tire on the truck and spray painted the tailgate and license plate.

Under questioning, the boys admitted that they had also vandalized bathrooms and other property in Grover Park. The three suspects, all 11 years of age, were released to their families.

A 16-year-old Township boy was arrested and charged with juvenile delinquency after he attempted to purchase alcohol using false identification on Friday.

The store clerk did not accept the identification provided and called the police.

AIDS Task Force Sets Event at University

The AIDS Task Force of Princeton is co-sponsoring "An Evening With Dawn Averitt" on April 28 in McCosh 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Ms. Averitt was diagnosed with HIV in 1988 at the age of 19. Since then, she had become an AIDS activist, educator, and advocate for people with AIDS.

Other sponsors of the event are Merck & Co., Princeton University Health Services, and Princeton AIDS Awareness.

Historical Society To Screen 1948 Film May 7 on Campus

Princeton, the 1948 film produced in commemoration of the bicentennial celebration of Princeton University, will be shown at the Fourth Annual Film party sponsored by The Historical Society of Princeton at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 7, at the Kresge Auditorium, Frick Laboratory, William Street and Washington Road.

The film depicts the physical appearance of Princeton 50 years ago while focusing on how the Princeton educational spirit works between student and educator. Following the film, two of the four principal student actors in the film, Eugene Buttle, '49 and Ralph Woodward, '51, will reflect on the impact of their university experience on their lives.

Ralph Woodward
Princeton 1951

Eugene Buttle
Princeton 1949

"An inspirational film," is the term used to describe the movie by Bosley Crowther, movie critic of the New York Times, in a 1949 review published in the Princeton Alumni Weekly. He wrote, "It is a quite remarkable film in that it frankly departs from the customary exploring of the ivy-covered travelogue."

It is a "forthright and stimulating tribute to Princeton's higher educational ideals. . ." Another 1949 PAW article describes "the young, earnest students, the patient, knowing professors, the lofty trees and dignified architecture. [These] are the stuff of which good documentary films are made and few things are more inspirational than men at work on the problems of life."

Scenes from the 1947 Bicentennial Celebration include President Harry S Truman receiving an honorary degree and General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Admiral Chester Nimitz, and Albert Einstein in the processional.

A dessert reception at the Princeton Charter Club will follow the film. Tickets, which must be reserved by May 6, are $8; students $5. For both the film program and the dessert party tickets are $32 and must be reserved by May 1.

For tickets and information call The Historical Society of Princeton 921-6748.

Charter School Fundraiser Will Be Held on May 2

A number of area businesses that sell gift and craft items have formed a group to organize shows for the benefit of local causes. The first such event will take place on May 2, at the Princeton Charter School, 575 Ewing Street.

A portion of the proceeds from the show, which will run from 9 to 1, will benefit the Charter School.

Organizations, non-profit organizations, or schools interested in sponsoring fundraisers are invited to call Joanne Meehan, owner of the Cranbury Cook, at 395-0147.

Wild Edible Walk Planned in Hopewell

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, located on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township, is offering a Spring wild edible walk for adults on Saturday, May 2, from 9 to noon.

Suspected Attempt To Abduct Student Fails Friday Morning

A letter sent home with all of the elementary school students in the Princeton Regional Schools last Friday warned parents of a suspected abduction attempt on Moore Street Friday morning.

In the letter, acting superintendent Dr. Dan Swirsky informed parents that between 8 a.m. and 8:10 a.m., a woman had repeatedly attempted to convince a third-grade girl from Community Park School to get into her car.

"The woman, who was on the passenger side and called herself 'Ellen,' said that she'd drive the child to school," the letter reads. "Although the youngster declined the invitation, the woman was insistent and tried four more times to have the child get into the car."

The car was described as a dark green compact with with a black interior and New Jersey license plates. The suspect is described as a 60-year-old white woman of medium build, with gray hair. Police assume that a second adult was in the driver's seat of the vehicle, but the child was unable to provide any description.

The 8-year-old victim continued on to school and reported the incident to a school official, who contacted the police.

According to Police Captain Peter Hanley, the Department was contacted within minutes of the child's arrival at Community Park School. Unfortunately, because the child was walking, and the incident occurred on Moore Street, near Hamilton Avenue, it was nearly 20 minutes after the woman made contact with the child that the police were notified.

No suspects were found in the area.

In response to the incident, Dr. Swirsky reported, all elementary school teachers were instructed to review with their students the danger of getting into a car with a stranger. Additionally, all crossing guards, bus drivers, and after-school program employees were notified. Local private schools were also contacted.

On Friday afternoon, police increased their patrols during the time in which students would be walking home. District employees were also sent out in school vehicles to "cruise" through the neighborhoods where students walk home.

No further incidents were reported on Friday afternoon, and none had been reported when TOWN TOPICS went to press on Tuesday. Police request that anyone with information about the case call Detective Sergeant John Reading at 921-8108.

Rec. Dept. to Offer Trip to "Wizard of Oz"

The Princeton Recreation Department will offer a community trip to Madison Square Garden to enjoy The Wizard of Oz Sunday, May 17.

Attendees will enjoy the stage version of America's favorite movie brought to life. The show stars Eartha Kitt as The Wicked Witch, Mickey Rooney as the Wizard, and Jessica Grove as Dorothy.

The production is suitable for the whole family. The cost is $57 per person and covers show ticket and transportation. For registration forms and more information call 921-9480.

Hebrew Chant Evening To Be at Yoga Center

The Princeton Center for Yoga and Health, 113 Commons Way, will present an evening of Hebrew chanting, "Kol Haneshamah: The Voice of the Soul," on Saturday, April 25, from 8-9:30. This program will be led by Philadelphia yoga teacher and student of Jewish mysticism Leah Weisman. Admission is $10 at the door.

Speaking about her work, Ms. Weisman says, "Chanting phrases from traditional Jewish prayer and psalms, we weave the divine essence with our own and in so doing, experience 'kol haneshamah,' the voice of the soul."

The Center for Yoga and Health is in the Montgomery Office Commons, on Route 206, just south of Princeton Airport. For more information, call Deborah Metzger at 924-PCYH.

TRENTON ROUNDUP

Speed Limit Increase Starts May 19

New Jersey motorists will be able to drive 65 mph on segments of ten highways across the state, starting May 19, according to state Department of Transportation (DOT) officials. The date of May 19 marks the beginning of an 18-month test period of the increased speed, authorized in January by the Legislature and Governor Christine Whitman.

Area roads that will be affected include a 32-mile stretch of Interstate 295 beginning in Lawrence; and 30 miles of Interstate 195, starting in Hamilton, west of Route 130. The New Jersey Turnpike, from north of Interchange 1 to south of Interchange 13 will also be affected, as will some segments of the Garden State Parkway.

Governor Christine Whitman has said she might consider adding more roads to the test, but not before studies show that the higher speeds do not cause additional traffic accidents or fatalities.

Auto Insurance Reform Bill

An auto insurance reform bill that, if enacted, would reduce rates by 15 percent cleared the state Assembly on Monday, April 20.

The bill is a revised version of a Senate proposal that passed three weeks ago. Both versions call for a rate cut of 15 percent, which would save most motorists $170 to $180 on their annual premiums.

The bills do not agree on the issue of urban rate caps, a law that limits the premiums insurers can charge in mostly-urban areas, where the accident rate is higher.

The Senate version would set up a commission to revamp the state's rating territories, which could lead to the eventual elimination of rate caps — but might not. The Assembly bill mandates the elimination of caps by next year.

Critics of the "caps" say they force 80 percent of New Jersey drivers — mostly in the suburbs and rural parts of the state — to subsidize insured drivers in densely populated areas.

Others oppose lifting the caps, pointing out that it is the disadvantaged who will suffer most. They also say it would unfairly penalize "good drivers" in urban areas.

Governor Christine Whitman has criticized the legislation, noting that it does not guarantee "meaningful savings for all good drivers in New Jersey."

At press time, it was unclear whether the Governor would attempt to re-work the legislation with Senate and Assembly leaders before it arrives on her desk for signature.

No Major Energy Savings

The first New Jersey consumers to buy electricity directly from an independent supplier rather than from their local utility company did not save as much during the first four months as they had hoped to do, according to a recent report.

The report shows that the savings for residential customers in a one-year pilot program started in Monroe Township (Middlesex County) was only 3.8 percent, during the first four months, rather than the 5 percent predicted. The savings for commercial customers was even less, at about 0.9 percent.

About 9,000 residential and 750 commercial customers in the program are buying electric energy from Conectiv Energy, a division of the Wilmington, Del.-based Delmarva Power & Light Co.

The Board of Public Utilities has recommended opening up 10 percent of the state's consumer market to independent suppliers by October, with the rest of the state to follow by 2000. Analysts say, however, that for consumers to realize any savings at all, they must purchase in a group.

Truck Traffic Will Be Limited On Mountain Ave.

The Township introduced an ordinance establishing a four-ton weight limit for Mountain Avenue at its meeting on April 20.

The measure, on which there will be a public hearing May 11, would prohibit trucks in excess of four tons from traveling on the road unless they are making local deliveries. The intent is to prevent trucks from cutting through town from Route 206 to The Great Road.

Four-ton trucks are already excluded from Cherry Valley Road (beginning at Province Line Road and extending to Route 206); Drakes Corner Road; Overbrook Road; Poor Farm Road; Pretty Brook Road; and Princeton Pike-Mercer Road (beginning at the Lawrence Township line and extending to the Princeton Borough line).

Once the ordinance has been approved, it will be forwarded to the state Department of Transportation (DOT) for its approval.

"We want truckers to get the message that it is not easy to get through Princeton on any road," Mayor Phyllis Marchand pointed out. She said Mountain Avenue residents, none of whom were at the Committee meeting, are thrilled about the ordinance.

The mayor said she was sure no one would object to the ordinance except truckers. It might not actually be worthwhile for truckers to detour around Princeton unless the fine for travelling on restricted roads is pretty stiff, objected one audience member.

The current penalty, according to Police Lieut. Mark Emann, starts between $50 and $100. Depending on the amount of excess poundage, the penalty may increase.

Witherspoon Apartments To Be Dedicated

The number of older, single, second-career students is on the rise at Princeton Theological Seminary as it is in seminaries throughout the nation. In response to this trend, the Seminary, which has "traditionally had the youngest student body in captivity," according to Seminary President Thomas W. Gillespie, has recently constructed the J. Houston Witherspoon Apartments to house 50 single students. The dedication of the building is scheduled for Monday, April 27, at 11a.m.

The Witherspoon Apartments are named to honor J. Houston Witherspoon. A native of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. Witherspoon has been a longtime friend and generous donor to Princeton Seminary throughout the years. Through a provision in his will, he has provided the major funding for the construction of this new facility, which is located on Emmons Drive on the Seminary's West Windsor campus, just four miles from the main campus.

Designed by the Philadelphia-based architecture firm of Ewing Cole Cherry and Brott, the building contains 30 one-bedroom and 10 two-bedroom apartments as well as a common room with a fireplace.

Plainsboro Library To Offer Scholarship

The Plainsboro Public Library encourages all Plainsboro resident high school seniors to stop by the Public Library and pick up an application for the Library's annual Leadership Scholarship. The $500 award is both a reward for creative leadership, as well as a chance for students to have input into future library service.

Applicants must be graduating seniors presently residing in Plainsboro, but are not required to be students at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. For additional details, parents and students should pick up an application at the Library in the Municipal Complex at 641 Plainsboro Road and check with Plainsboro Public Library at 275-2897.

Pennington School To Hold Benefit Auction in May

Plans are shaping up for the Pennington School Parents Association Kentucky Derby Auction and Dinner, to be held May 1, at the Washington Crossing (Pa.) Inn. Proceeds from the auction will benefit the school.

The auction committee has also issued raffle tickets that sell for $50 each; the prize is a $6,000 educational scholarship fund, to be used for tuition and fees at the school or college of the winner's choice.

Auction items will include vacations, tickets to sporting events, autographed sports equipment, jewelry, restaurant meals and professional services.

Vacation packages to be offered will include a seven-night stay at Jupiter Cay Resort and Marina, including airfare; one-week holidays in Vail, Colo.; and a stay in the Pocono Mountains. Sports items such as a Trenton Thunder box for the 1998 season and two rounds of golf at Saucon Valley Country Club will be sold to the highest bidder; and gourmets may bid on a catered five-course French dinner for eight.

For more information on the auction or to purchase a raffle ticket, call the Office of Alumni and Development, at 737-7968.

Architect to Speak On Landscape as Design

A lecture by nationally-known ecological landscape architect Douglas Kane will take place on Sunday, April 26, from 2 to 4, at Mountain Lakes House, 57 Mountain Avenue. Mr. Kane's appearance will be co-sponsored by the Friends of Princeton Open Space and the Delaware & Raritan Greenway.

A professor of environmental design at Delaware Valley College and winner of the 1997 Excellence in Design Award from the American Institute of Architects, Mr. Kane will discuss the use of native plants in landscape design.

He will discuss ways in which home owners can integrate the unique natural resources of the Princeton area into their landscaping and property maintenance plans.

Mr. Kane is listed in Who's Who in the East and Who's Who Among American Teachers. He also serves as a trustee of the Bowman's Hill wildflower preserve in Washington Crossing, Pa.

The cost for the program is $10 for members of the two sponsoring organizations; $15, for nonmembers. To register, call the D&R Greenway hotline at 452-0525.

Community Conference On Women, Addictions

The fourth annual "Women Serving Women: Women and Their Addictions" conference will be held on Wednesday, May 6, from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Woodrow Wilson School of Princeton University. Focus of this year's conference is "Creativity and the Recovery Process."

Professionals and interested individuals are invited to participate in this community event, which will offer the opportunity to network, share community resources and participate in educational workshops. A light supper will be provided during the registration hour.

The conference will begin on a festive note, with performers Marjorie Herman and Lou Ann Heth providing poetry and music. Participants then are invited to attend one of the following workshops: Fairytales and Myths: True Tales of Women and Addictions; Spiritual Healing and Addiction: Finding a Support God(dess); Drama in Prevention: A Teen Performance and Discussion; Addiction and the Family: Uncovering Patterns and Roles Using Art and Family Sculpting; Heart to Ear, Heart to Mind: Music and the Journey of Recovery; Dance Movement Therapy: The Body's Natural Capacity for Healing; Unfolding Our Stories: Making a Personal Book Using Creative Techniques; and Holistic Approaches for Healing Addictions.

The last hour of the conference will be an evening celebration, "Wholeness from Within," with storytelling, poetry, dance and song by Susan Danoff, Marjorie Herman and Donna Sherman. Also featured will be Tribe, a vocal and instrumental ensemble who invites the audience to join in a provocative, creative dialogue using tone, words and movement.

Sponsored by the YWCA Princeton, the conference is co-sponsored by the Association for the Advancement of Mental Health, Catholic Charities, Corner House, Family and Children's Services of Central New Jersey, Jewish Family and Children's Services of Greater Mercer County, Mercer Council on Alcoholism and Drug Addiction, Princeton Alcohol and Drug Alliance, Princeton House, Progressions, Trinity Counseling and Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University.

The fee is $30 per person, including a light supper. Preregistration is required by April 29; early registration is advised to ensure workshop choice. For more information, call 252-2006 or 497-2103.

Interested persons may register in person at the YWCA during business hours, or charge registration by calling 497-2100 (registration code 10-03134).

Historical Society Sets Tour of Bronx Landmark

The Historical Society of Princeton will host a tour of two 19th century Bronx landmarks, the Hall of Fame and the New York Botanical Gardens, on Thursday, May 7.

Leaving Princeton at 7:45 a.m., the group will begin the day with a guided tour of the Hall of Fame and the memorable Gould Library. Reflecting an interest in classicism, the library and the Hall of Fame, both originally part of New York University, were built at the city's highest elevation. Modeled after the Pantheon in Rome, the Gould Library overlooks the Harlem and Hudson Rivers and is ornamented with Tiffany stained glass, a coffered gold dome, and Corinthian columns.

Adjacent to the Library stands the renowned Hall of Fame featuring busts of 97 distinguished Americans whose achievements are thought to represent models of citizenship.

The tour will continue on to another spectacular site: the New York Botanical Gardens. The visit to the Gardens will start with a special box lunch at the "Pavilion Tent." After lunch the group will enjoy a one-hour guided "Garden Highlights Tour." The group will then have two hours to explore the gardens, take a tram tour, visit the Rock Garden, or walk to the picturesque bridge over the Bronx River to view the waterfall that once powered the Snuff Mill. This trip also offers sightseers the special opportunity to visit the Victorian Conservatory which was recently restored to its original state at a cost of $25 million.

The cost of the tour is $50 (non-members pay $10 more) which includes transportation, admission to both sites, a special box lunch, and an $8 tax-deductible contribution to the Historical Society. Tour coordinator is Eva Schwab. The tour is limited to 51 people. Reservations must be made by May 5. For more information, call 921-6748.

Shopping Center to Hold 'May Madness' Festival

The Princeton Shopping Center, North Harrison Street, will celebrate spring at its tenth annual "May Madness" festival of family fun on Saturday, May 2, from 10:30 to 3, rain or shine, in the courtyard.

Festivities will begin with English May Day folk dances performed by Griggstown Locke, Millstone River Morris, and Shandygaff Longsword Dance Corps.

The shopping center will host a petting zoo, starting at 11, where children can also enjoy pony rides (free, with a $5 receipt.)

The provisional class of the Junior League of Greater Princeton will sponsor a "Safe Kids Clinic." Parents will receive a complimentary ID booklet in which they can record vital statistic, along with fingerprints and ID photos, to be taken during the festival. Children will also have the opportunity to participate in safety events throughout the day.

From 12 noon to 2:30, participants may enjoy Dixieland jazz, performed by the Rhythm Kings, under the direction of Jerry Rife.

Sidewalk sales of hard-to-believe bargains will take place all day long. For more information, call 921-6234.

Senior Center to Benefit From Wild Oats Opening

The Princeton Senior Resource Center (PSRC) will be the beneficiary of Princeton Wild Oats Community Market's 5 percent day on Thursday, April 23 as part of Wild Oats Grand Opening Special Weekend. PSRC will receive 5 percent of all sales that day. PSRC staff and volunteers will be on hand to provide information on the agency's work from 10 to 7.

The Princeton Senior Resource Center is a private nonprofit agency providing information, services and activities to all older adults and their families in Princeton Borough and Township at its two locations at Spruce Circle, off Harrison Street, and the Suzanne Patterson Center, on Monument Drive behind Princeton Borough Hall.

Programs include counseling and support groups for elders and their caregivers, Home Friends and LINK which match adult and high school volunteers with homebound elderly, Grandparents, Grandpartners where seniors read to kindergartners in school, Medicare insurance counseling, income tax assistance, and health screenings including blood pressure, cholesterol testing and flu and pneumonia vaccinations.

Activities include tai chi, yoga, chair exercise, shiatsu healing massage, LAFF, literature, bridge, Spanish, Computers for Beginners, and Introduction to the Internet and e-mail. To register for classes or for information call 924-7108.

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships, and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 50 cents

Poetry of Ireland Is Showcased In Collection Here

A new collection of Irish poetry at Firestone Library will help scholars at Princeton and elsewhere address the extraordinary contribution to world literature made by Irish writers in this century.

To mark the acquisition of the Leonard L. Milberg '53 Collection of Irish Poetry, which comprises more than 1,100 printed works by 50 poets from the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland, the Princeton Library has prepared an exhibition drawing on the materials in the collection.

Scheduled to open April 27, The exhibition, "Sing whatever is well made: The Leonard B. Milberg '53 Collection of Irish Poetry," will remain on view at Firestone Library through September 20. Present in the exhibition — titled from a line in "After Ben Bulben" by William Butler Yeats — are approximately 150 items: first and significant editions of the poets' books, broadsides, translations into English, children's books, fiction and nonfiction, and ephemeral items such as poem cards.

Included are such items as a box of pen nibs belonging to James Joyce and a framed holograph poem written by Seamus Heaney on the occasion of Paul Muldoon's 40th birthday.

Four of the poets featured in the Milberg collection — Seamus Heaney, Michael Longley, Paul Muldoon, and Nuala Ni Dhomhnaill — will read from their works at events marking the opening of the exhibition. Mr. Heaney, who won the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1995, will read on Sunday, April 26, at 4 in Richardson Auditorium. Messrs. Longley, Muldoon, and Ní Dhomhnaill will read Monday, April 27, at 4:30 in Richardson. On Tuesday, April 28, at 4:30 in Room 101 of McCormick Hall, Edna Longley, a professor of English at Queens University, Belfast, and one of Ireland s leading poetry critics, will lecture on "'Atlantic's Premises': Relations Between Northern Irish Poetry and American Poetry in the 1960s."

SPRING CLEANING: Princeton University student Ben Geffen, left, and Hun School student Janie Woodbridge help Estelle Johnson, right, with household chores at her Spruce Circle apartment. The students participated in Princeton University's Volunteer Day, on Saturday, April 18, a project coordinated by the University Office of Community and State Affairs, and the Princeton Senior Resource Center.

Unpublished Poems

In addition, the new, spring issue of the Princeton University Library Chronicle includes previously unpublished poems by 41 of the poets whose works are featured in the Milberg collection.

The international appeal of Irish poetry — and its pervasive influence on world literature — reflect the extent to which Irish poets, writing of matters specific to Irish experience, also are writing fundamentally about the human condition, according to Samuel Hynes, Woodrow Wilson Professor of Literature, Emeritus, at Princeton, who prepared the introductory essay for the Library Chronicle.

In "The Poem of Ireland," Prof. Hynes writes that Ireland's long poetic tradition has been uniquely "shaped and shaken by the deep national divisions that have made the island's troubled history and that still scar and define the present.

Irish poetry is like a monument built along geographical fault lines, where one rock surface grates against another: Irish against English, Catholic against Protestant, royalist against republican, language against language."

Impressive Range

The poets whose works are assembled in the Milberg collection represent an impressive range. As Princeton graduate student Wes Davis notes in the introduction to the catalog of the collection, more than 80 years separate the births of the oldest and youngest poets. Some, like Nuala Ní Dhomhnaill and Liam Ó Muirthile, write in the Irish language, exploring its richness as a source of verse, despite — or because of — its legacy as a language of the disenfranchised. Many, such as Brendan Kennelly, Tom Paulin, and Seamus Heaney, have turned at times to other cultures' mythologies and to other modern languages — including Polish and Romanian — rendering poetry that is broadly international.

Also featured in the Library Chronicle are essays on Irish poetry before and after Yeats (Bernard O'Donoghue, Ronald Schuchard, and Denis Donoghue), on the legacy of Louis MacNeice (Peter McDonald), on themes and tensions within current irish poetry (Edna Longley, Neil Corcoran, and Clair Wills), on the writing of poetry (Paul Muldoon and Seamus Heaney), and on publishing

Irish poetry (Peter Fallon and Dillon Johnston).

The collection was donated to Princeton by Leonard L. Milberg, a member of its Class of 1953, who is chairman of the board of Milberg Factors Inc. in New York City. In 1994, Mr. Milberg gave the University a collection of American poetry, comprising works by more than 70 contemporary poets. He began his Irish poetry collection shortly afterward, at Samuel Hynes' suggestion and with the encouragement of Paul Muldoon.

DESIGNER SHOWHOUSE: Barbara Kirk and Judy Springer, above, are co-chairs of Greater Princeton's 1999 Designer Showhouse, sponsored by the Junior League. They are seeking a home to be used for the showhouse project.

Jr. League Seeks House For Designer Showcase

The Junior League of Greater Princeton is seeking a house that the organization can transform into a showplace for the League's 11th "Designer Showhouse" in the spring of 1999.

The Showhouse is the Junior League's largest fundraising event and has previously attracted approximately 5,000 visitors. As in the past, the house will become a showcase for the work of approximately 30 designers and landscape architects from the tri-state area.

Judy Springer and Barbara Kirk, co-chairs of the 1999 Showhouse project, say the ideal home should have approximately 25 rooms and enough property to accommodate landscape architects, a cafe, and a boutique.

Once a home has been identified, the Junior League invites area designers and architects to tour the property; proposals for projects are submitted; and the League draws up contracts with those whose proposals are selected.

Homeowners must move out during a period of approximately six weeks, while transformation on their home is ongoing. "The showcase is ideal for someone who plans to put a home on the market," Ms. Kirk says. "No structural changes are made; everything is cosmetic."

If the owners do not like a particular change — perhaps the paint choice in a bedroom — the designer is committed to restoring the home to its original state after the Showcase.

If, on the other hand, home owners are pleased with certain changes — like refinished hardwood floors — they may keep them. No permanent changes are ever made without consultation with the owner.

In the case of non-permanent transformations, they may be purchased from the designer for a nominal fee. Changes in the landscape, such as the addition of a tree or shrub, can also be reversed, if the owner is dissatisfied.

"To date, the Showcase has been positive for all the owners who have participated in it," Ms. Kirk declares.

The Junior League is an organization of women committed to promoting volunteerism; its purpose is exclusively educational and charitable. Anyone who has information about a home that might be suitable for the Designer Showcase is invited to call the Junior League office, at 771-0525.

Talk and Book Signing Set by University Store

S. George Philander, professor of geosciences at Princeton University, will appear at the Princeton University Store on Thursday, April 30, at 7 p.m. to speak about his new book, Is the Temperature Rising? and to sign copies.

The book describes, in nontechnical language, how the interplay between winds and clouds, light and air, and land and sea maintains climates that permit a diversity of fauna and flora to flourish on Earth.

This interplay also creates such weather disrupters as El Nino and La Nina, translates modest fluctuations in sunlight into global climate changes as dramatic as the Ice Age, and determines Earth's response to the gases that are discharged into the atmosphere.

Prof. Philander is also the author of El Nino, La Nino, and The Southern Oscillation.

Institute Announces New Biology Program

The Institute for Advanced Study has announced that it will begin a new program in theoretical biology, to be headed by Martin Nowak, one of the world's leading researchers in this area.

Dr. Nowak, presently Professor of Mathematical Biology at Oxford University, will come to the Institute this fall to lead the research initiative. The program is made possible in part by a new initiatives fund at the Institute, established by Institute Trustee Leon Levy to provide greater flexibility in exploring promising, new areas not already represented within the Institute.

"Theoretical biology is a very promising field, one that should play an increasingly important role in the future," said the Institute's Director, Phillip A. Griffiths. "In recent years, the application of mathematical modeling and computation has paved the way for great strides in our understanding of basic biological phenomena. As part of its mission to foster research at the intellectual frontier, the Institute has been considering the possibility of starting a program in this area for some time. We believe that this new research initiative will contribute substantially to the advance of biology well into the next century, and we are especially pleased that Martin Nowak will be leading this effort."

"The Institute's new initiative is a tremendous opportunity for theoretical biology and an important recognition of the whole field," said Dr. Nowak. "The main objective of the new program will be to undertake worldclass research in diverse areas of mathematical biology, ranging from evolutionary biology and ecology to infectious diseases of humans. The emphasis will be on maintaining research collaborations with leading experimental groups, as mathematical theory in biology is usually at its best when in close conjunction with experimental data."

The research goals of the new initiative will include work on the evolution and dynamics of infectious disease. The human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) will be an area of focus, because more quantitative data are available for HIV than for any other infectious disease.

Martin Nowak, who holds degrees in biochemistry and mathematics, was born in Austria and educated at the University of Vienna, where he received his Ph.D. with highest honors in 1989. He subsequently went to Oxford University, where he has worked closely with Professor Sir Robert May, now England's Chief Scientific Advisor and head of the Office of Science and Technology, for the past nine years, developing a wide variety of mathematical models to address a broad range of problems in evolutionary biology and infectious diseases.

Since 1992 he has been a Wellcome Trust Senior Research Fellow in Biomedical Sciences and a Fellow of Keble College, Oxford, becoming Head of the Mathematical Biology group in 1995 and Professor of Mathematical Biology in 1997.

Check Hearing Loss At Hospital Screening

More than 25 million Americans experience some type of hearing loss in their lifetime. Many of these people, particularly those who are middle-aged or seniors, ignore symptoms, such as difficulty using the phone on one side or problems hearing sounds from a certain direction, because they assume hearing loss is a natural part of aging.

Not so, says Scott Kay, M.D., an otolaryngologist on staff at The Medical Center at Princeton. "Any hearing loss needs to be checked, as it could be a sign of something serious," Dr. Kay says.

Of particular concern are acoustic neuromas, slow growing benign tumors of the hearing nerve. If not caught in its early stage, an acoustic neuroma can cause severe hearing loss as well as facial paralysis.

To offer help for those who may unknowingly have an acoustic neuroma, the Medical Center will offer free screenings on Saturday, April 25 from 9 until noon. Dr. Kay, a member of the New Jersey Acoustic Neuroma Association advisory board, will perform the screenings.

Those experiencing undiagnosed hearing loss (partial or complete) in one ear, should call 497-4480 to register for a free 10-minute screening.

Spring Tea Party to Be At Hamilton Jewelers

Hamilton Jewelers, 92 Nassau Street, will hold its annual Spring Tea Party on Saturday, May 2, from 11:30 to 4. Gift items available for purchase will include tea sets for all ages, antique linens, dolls, children's furniture, and children's and bedroom accessories.

High tea will be served during the afternoon; and the fairy tale character Snow White will join everyone for tea.

For more information, call M. Heath Cooley, at 771-9400.

Nature, Art Series Offered at Watershed

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, located on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township, has announced the spring session of its year-round Nature and Art Series, Painting and Drawing from Nature, for children ages 6 to 12. The series will meet Tuesdays, April 28, May 5, 12, and 19 from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Teacher-artist-storyteller Rebecca Kelly will return to help students explore the relationship between art, stories, and nature. Working from a variety of spring landscapes, children will use an array of drawing and painting media. Seasonal myths animate this activity, including the Greek myth of Demeter and Persephone.

Meet at the Watershed's Buttinger Nature Center. Preregistration is required and space is limited. The program fee is $40 members/$55 nonmembers. To register call 737-7592.

Business Association Is Looking for Site For Variety Store in Downtown Princeton

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In late July, 1997, it was announced in this paper that Woolworth's would close its Princeton store on Nassau street before Christmas in line with its national program to close all of its retail stores. The local manager then indicated to the Princeton Business Association, Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area, an interest in opening another variety store in town and running it himself.

The Princeton Business Association sponsored a public meeting at the Princeton Public Library on August 6 to give the manager a forum at which he could convey his ideas about a new store to the public and perhaps acquire some support. The result of the meeting was to suggest to the manager that he prepare a business plan for consideration by interested participants/investors,

The Princeton Business Association asked the manager to submit and discuss his business' plan, when completed, with an experienced group of businessmen before "going public" with it. For this purpose, a meeting was held on September 1 at the Chamber of Commerce office. In attendance were two local retailers, a retired corporate personnel executive, and two representatives of SCORE (the Service Corps of Retired Executives Association).

At this meeting, the manager advised that he had been transferred to the Quaker Bridge Mall Woolworth's, also due to close before Christmas. His ideas for opening a new variety store were discussed. After discussion he was advised to sharpen his business plan and to include better financial projections and marketing plans that could be attractive to those who might wish to support him.

The Holidays passed by with no further contact from the manager. Finally, a few days ago, we were able to confer with him; we learned that when the Quaker Bridge Mall store closed he, by necessity, found a position at another type of retail store and was too busy to think about a new variety store in Princeton. He told us that he still thinks such a store in Princeton is a good idea, but he does not have the time or finances to pursue it.

In the meantime, we have been contacted by a firm that operates a variety store in a large city. This firm is interested in opening a similar type store in Princeton. We are now investigating location possibilities. We are looking for a "center city" caring and community-minded property owner who will negotiate an affordable lease with this company as landlord and possibly as partner/investor so that all of us can enjoy the benefits of a badly needed variety store in our town. There must be a way ...!

Chairman, Princeton Business Association

Meadow Lovers of Princeton Unite! Ordinance Biased in Favor of Trees

To the Editor of Town Topics:

One person's meadow is another person's clear-cut forest. I guess the Princeton Township Committee's proposed tree ordinance boils down to preventing the creation of meadows, with at least three members firmly in the latter camp.

Why would I call it the anti-meadow-making ordinance? Simply because I cannot come up with another reason to want it.

The reason to have this ordinance cannot be environmental. I doubt there is any piece of property in Princeton Township where serious environmental damage would occur if it were clear-cut. If there is one, it must be already covered by EPA rules on wetlands or endangered species. Sure, if half the Township were cut over, there might be small harm locally to the balance of atmospheric carbon dioxide and oxygen, and the lack of cover might lead to slower growth of the deer population. These might be offsetting effects — one unfavorable (fewer trees absorbing CO^2) and one favorable (fewer deer emitting CO^2).

The reason cannot be to slow development. A developer has to get approval for his site plan, and the planning board can already ask for changes in the number of trees to be felled.

The reason cannot be to prevent people from expanding the structures on their property. Structures requiring removal of half the trees on the property would almost surely violate zoning set-back regulations and fail to receive a building permit.

Steve Frakt says, "We are caretakers of the land." Assuming what he means by "we" is the Township Committee, its existing regulation already cares adequately for the land. Unless, of course, new meadows are to be declared careless. But is that a problem? Hardly. Michele Tuck-Ponder thinks the ordinance deals with such a rare problem that it isn't needed. Yet even she vastly overestimates the frequency of meadow making in Princeton Township when she refers to its occurring "once in a blue moon."

Meadow lovers of Princeton unite! Tell the committee their tree ordinance is an infringement of your right to sunshine and a pleasant vista on your own property.

Tickets Still Available for Concert Benefitting Princeton Public Library

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have received several phone calls asking me if there are any tickets left for the Tom Chapin Concert on Saturday, April 25, at 2 p.m. at McCarter Theatre to benefit the Princeton Public Library.

The answer is yes, there are tickets available in the balcony, which is not out of range of Tom Chapin's special magnetism as a family entertainer. This is a performer who has been described as one of the most loved of American folk singers and who has a penchant for translating everyday situations into upbeat, enjoyable and accessible music.

Tickets are $20 for all seats, with one half of the ticket price going to the Princeton Public Library to support its ongoing programs and services, especially for children. There will be an Ice Cream Social in the McCarter side lobbies with Mr. Chapin as our guest for benefit ticket holders who will receive admission cards when they purchase the $20 tickets. The Ice Cream Social will take place immediately following the performance.

For information about remaining tickets call Barbara L. Johnson at 924-2594.

Unique Selection of Gifts Key to Go For Baroque

Yes — conventional wisdom to the contrary — friends can go into business together and still be friends. The four partners who own Go For Baroque at 20 Nassau Street are not only still friends, they have created a very successful store, which continues to intrigue customers from Princeton and beyond.

Miles Dumont, Louise Steffens, Judy Barker, and Donna Neas established the store nearly four years ago, and together with manager Pattie Emery, they offer an elegantly sophisticated selection of unique gifts and home accessories.

IT'S NEW To Us

"We each have different areas of responsibility, whether it's artistic, computers, or financial," explains Ms. Dumont, who especially enjoys being in the store and meeting customers.

Finding new artists and unusual merchandise are priorities the partners share, and they go on buying trips separately and together, adds Ms. Dumont.

Taste and Style

"We go to gift shows and juried craft shows at least once a year. Our tastes are compatible but different, and we have also gotten a feel for our customers and what they like. The store continues to evolve. Of course, the challenge is always to keep it fresh and new. We try to stay ahead and anticipate, and bring in new ideas."

There is no question that the four partners do everything with taste and style, and their attractive selection targets unusual gifts that focus on home accents. Many items are hand-done and are not seen elsewhere in the area.

For example, handmade decoupage bookends, featuring a design of Nassau Hall, were especially made for Go For Baroque and are exclusive to the shop. Handsome and sleek, they are a great gift for Princeton University students and alums.

Decoupage is a big item in the store, and can be found in an array of items — coasters, plates, lamps, umbrella stands, waste baskets, even kitchen stools in assorted fun designs.

Games Begin

Handpainted wooden furniture is a specialty of Go For Baroque, and customers look forward to the unusual and entertaining selection, much of which can be personalized.

Let the games begin with the best-selling urban game table from the Sticks Company in Iowa. Suitable for cribbage, backgammon, chess and checkers, it is available in different designs and in rectangles or squares.

File cabinets and trunks decorated with special messages are also offered, and you won't have any trouble getting the kids to practice the piano if they can sit on one of Sticks' special piano benches. In assorted musical designs, they are a delightful new addition and can be personalized.

Also special is the shop's one-of-a-kind backgammon table, a replica of a 19th Century gaming table. The veggie motif features red and green peppers, with wooden carrot and zucchini pieces.

Enthusiasts of the Big Apple will love Go For Baroque's unique New York skyline, created by combining four separate painted wood cabinets. Together, their formation is striking, but they can also be purchased separately, and their tall, narrow design is perfect for storing CDs, audio tapes, etc.

The shop is also noted for its unusual "twig" furniture and lamps and its very popular "Story People" sculptures and prints. These wonderful wood sculptures all have a story, whether fanciful, whimsical, or poignant, and they are also seen in galleries.

Speaking of galleries, Go For Baroque offers its own rotating exhibit of photography. The work of many photographers is featured, including most recently, the New York-oriented photos of Stephen Harmon. Seinfeld aficionados will especially appreciate "Seinfeld's Restaurant".

And Princeton fans will certainly want Jim Dow's limited edition framed photo and posters of the last football game in Palmer Stadium.

Time to Browse

"We try to entertain here," says Ms. Dumont regarding the store's selection and the owners' philosophy. "You really need to take time to browse. Our goal is to get things that are fun and different but functional. For example, we have tall, narrow painted metal cabinets, which are great for the kitchen or bath. In assorted colors, their fun designs are funky and functional, and they can hold whatever you want."

Children are not forgotten at the shop either, and partner Louise Steffens has applied her artistic talent to a special "Pyramid" chest, perfect for a child's room. She has painted illustrations of popular fables, such as the Tortoise and the Hare and Country Mouse and City Mouse, in charming designs on the exterior.

Ceramic baby bowls and adorable baby blankets (in an accompanying gift bag) are also available.

Go For Baroque is also a super stop for Mother's Day gifts. Everything from wonderful lamps and table top items to accent pillows, bird houses and pretty faux floral displays to handcrafted jewelry and handsome woven area rugs is on display. Not to be missed is Menopaws: The Silent Meow, a humorous look at the subject, featuring feline motif and memorable cat illustrations — a big seller at $9.95.

Something you will not see everywhere are the new copper garden sprinklers, just arrived for spring.

"These are really works-of-art," explains Ms. Dumont. "In different designs, they can add a sophisticated look to the outdoor living space. They have a special hose attachment, and when a faucet is turned on, the solid copper sculptures 'spin rainbows' and cast water over flower beds. Very special!"

The eclectic selection at the shop also offers an eclectic price range, she adds, with items ranging from $10 "to as high as you care to go!" Gift sets of four bars of soap are $20, small handcarved wood birds are $15, charming glass vases $35, and the garden sprinklers start in the $200 range.

"We're special, but not a specialty store," says Ms. Dumont, "and I think we have filled a niche here. People seem to feel it's very refreshing to find a store like ours. They tell us they have never seen so many unique items all together.

"Also, this town deserves to have owner-operated stores that give it individual flavor. We care about the downtown, and we will do our best to continue to offer a special and unique selection for our customers."

Go For Baroque provides gift certificates, gift wrapping, and is open Tuesday through Saturday 11 to 6, Sunday 12 to 5. 497-3500.

ON A LIGHTER NOTE: "Our 'music' lamps, made from real musical instruments, are big favorites. Music is a universal common denominator, and these are very fun gifts." Miles Dumont, one of the partners at Go For Baroque, shows off a "sax" lamp, one of many intriguing items at this popular gift shop.

After nine years, it is still exciting. And now, with our move to a new location next door, we have more space and can offer customers even better service."

Edward Jo, manager of 1 Hr. Image Photo at 20 Nassau Street, is justifiably proud of his store's established reputation and for what is really longevity in business these days.

Having just moved into the site formerly occupied for decades by Harry Ballot Clothier, Mr. Jo looks forward to many more years of serving Princeton with quick, quality photo processing.

"We are here to stay," he smiles. "We have invested $400,000 for new and updated machinery. We have the latest state-of-the-art equipment. Our machinery is just three weeks old, and even our previous machinery was only four years old. We are always updating both the machines and the photographic method. Everything is computer-controlled and automated, but we have to monitor it, and that is the most critical part."

Speed and Quality

Customers, who include many commercial businesses, Princeton University, and professional photographers, as well as all the rest of us amateurs, have come to rely on Image Photo for its speed and quality. Color prints can be ready in one hour, slides in three hours, and black and white prints in three hours. There is also an enlargement machine and a print-to-print machine, which can make photos from prints (without negatives) in five minutes.

"We also offer one-hour APS (Advance Photo System), and new film processing, and we're the only ones in town to have it," reports Mr. Jo. "It is extremely convenient, and it can accommodate a very small camera. It gives extensive backprinting and additional information.

"We also offer a new service, which is an index photo of all the pictures — showing in small sizes what is on the roll. It is very good for reordering."

Helping customers with advice is a part of the job which Mr. Jo especially enjoys. He grew up in his family's photo business after they came to the U.S. from Korea in 1973. His parents, Edward and Helen Jo, owned and operated a photo store in Somerville, and also own Image Photo in Princeton.

"I used to like working in the darkroom," recalls Mr. Jo. "I took a lot of photographs, especially portraits, and now I take lots of pictures of my one-year-old son, Matthew."

He says customers appreciate having help with pictures that may be too light, too dark, or fuzzy.

"We want to help," he notes. "It's in everyone's best interest to take good photos. People often ask for suggestions. A lot of amateur photographers come in, and they do everything — landscapes, portraits, pets, and lots of kids and baby pictures.

"I really enjoy the people," he adds. "We know our customers — we have so many regulars now. People are so friendly in Princeton. I can't go out to lunch without saying hello to someone I know."

Success has not caused Image Photo to lose sight of the importance of continuing to learn and, always, to emphasize quality, says Mr. Jo.

QUICK PIX: "Quick, quality photo processing is our specialty. Also, this is a family business. There is always one family member here, and this makes a big difference." Edward Jo, manager, and his wife Judy of 1 Hr. Image Photo, offer the latest in state-of-the-art photo equipment and processing.

"Whatever we do, we try to do well," he states. "Our core business is photography. We're not spread out in a lot of directions. The biggest challenge is keeping up-to-date, and not being complacent. We are always looking to make a better photo.

"We go to seminars on the latest advances in photo processing four times a year. We keep learning all the time. And I really think our emphasis on quality sets us apart. For example, we only use Kodak paper. This makes a big difference, and our black and white process uses only authentic black and white paper.

Image Photo also provides passport and immigration photo services, as well as offering a large selection of film, batteries and accessories, frames and albums.

Gift certificates are available, and typically, processing a roll of film (24 prints) costs between $10 and $15 depending on size.

Remember, quality and service are the key here," says Mr. Jo. "We really care about the photos and our customers, and want to do our best."

Image Photo is open Monday through Friday 9 to 6, Thursday until 7, Sunday 9 to 5. 921-6644.

THEATER REVIEW

Theatre Intime's Production of "F.O.B." Explores Culture Clashes Between Young Chinese-Americans

CULTURE CLASH: Kurt Uy (left), Dao Huynh and Lewis Tchong play three Chinese-Americans in David Henry Wang's "F.O.B." at Theatre Intime.

David Henry Wang's F.O.B. ("fresh off the boat"), currently playing at Theatre Intime on the Princeton University campus, takes its audience into the world of young Chinese-Americans, where a culture clash erupts between Steve, a recent immigrant (F.O.B.), and Dale, a thoroughly assimilated second generation A.B.C. (American-born Chinese). Caught in the middle in this rivalry that moves back and forth from comedy to drama and from realism to mythic surrealism, is Grace, a college journalism student and first generation Chinese-American.

Author of Golden Child, which opened earlier this month on Broadway, and of the 1988 Tony-award winning M. Butterfly, Mr. Hwang wrote F.O.B. in 1980 while still an undergraduate at Stanford University. It went on to win an Obie Award after its run at New York's Public Theater.

Mr. Hwang has said that Maxine Hong Kingston's autobiographical The Woman Warrior was one of his inspirations for F.O.B., and indeed the ghosts of the Chinese past come to life repeatedly in both works. Steve, the F.O.B., sees himself as the incarnation of Gwan Gung, legendary god of fighters and writers, and Grace, at certain key points, takes on the character of the mighty woman warrior Fa Mu Lan.

Set in the back room of a small Chinese restaurant near Los Angeles on an afternoon and early evening of 1980, F.O.B. depicts three characters in their early twenties engaged individually and sometimes in conflict in an exploration of what it means to be Chinese and what it means to be American. The three capable actors in this Intime undergraduate production make up in energy, understanding and credibility what they lack in experience.

Lewis Tchong as Dale is on the fast track to assimilation and success. "I'm making it in America!" He is determined to become rich and to escape the "yellow ghosts" of his past. He does not hesitate to mock the language and behavior of the F.O.B. Steve, whose presence threatens him and reminds him of what he has worked so hard to escape — and also what he has lost.

Theatre Intime's F.O.B. will play for one more weekend at Murray Theater, with performances Thursday through Saturday, April 23 to 25, at 8 p.m. Call 258-4950 for reservations and information.

Dao Huynh as Dale's cousin Grace remembers being an outsider during her lonely days in middle school and high school, but she seems to have settled on a balance point, clearly respecting the traditions of her Chinese past and sympathizing with the difficulties of Steve the F.O.B., while going to college and working in her father's restaurant. Ms. Huyhn effectively portrays this character living in two different worlds, refereeing the conflict between the two young men and at the same time enjoying the attention she receives from both.

Kurt Uy plays a dapper and deceptive Steve, an exchange student — aggressive, defiant, at times seeming to be a clown, but in actuality a determined "warrior." His ritual sword fight (fight choreography by Marc Rosen) with Grace, re-enacting a mythic battle between Gwan Gung and Fa Mu Lan, provides an exciting highlight of the evening.

Convincing Characters

All are convincing, three-dimensional characters, intelligently developed and carefully rehearsed. The awkward, often antagonistic triangular relationship and their individual struggles, highlighted through monologues, are interesting and thought-provoking. Norman Leung's excellent set design, with lighting by Melissa Shapiro, provides a realistic, detailed background for the action of the play.

F.O.B., not as sensationally dramatic as M. Butterfly, offers more subtle riches, which include a moving depiction of three Chinese-Americans struggling to make sense of their identities and, as Ms. Kingston has said of Mr. Hwang's work, a glimpse of "our private Chinese lives and secret language."

"I started this project," Princeton University junior Dale Ho remarks in his Director's Note, "because I felt it was important to direct an Asian-American play ... I don't think that much has changed since people have finally started noticing the almost total failure of established theater groups to encourage minority participation or to produce shows that speak to minorities. People are left out and their experiences are ignored ... Directing this play has been my small attempt to give voice to just a few of those experiences." It is an admirable, important goal, and Mr. Ho has directed a worthy, entertaining production.

McCarter to Stage American Premiere Of New Fugard Play

McCarter Theatre will welcome back Athol Fugard with the American Premiere of his latest play, The Captain's Tiger, from May 5 through May 24. Appearing with Mr. Fugard will be South African actors Owen Sejake and Jennifer Steyn. Sponsored by the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation and AT&T, the production is co-directed by Susan Hilferty, who also designed the scenery and costumes.

Haunted by a cherished photograph of his mother as a young woman, The Captain's Tiger is a highly personal and autobiographical memory play — a tale of the friendships and influences that enabled Athol Fugard to find his voice and purpose as a writer. The play is set during Fugard's days as a "captain's tiger" — a nautical term for the captain's personal assistant aboard a merchant ship.

Athol Fugard is South Africa's leading playwright and one of the most important writers of our time. He first gained international recognition during the 1960s for his plays The Blood Knot, Boesman and Lena and Hello and Goodbye. His other plays include A Lesson from Aloes, The Road to Mecca, My Children! My Africa! Playland and Master Harold ... and the boys.

With productions in major theaters throughout the United States and abroad as well as on Broadway and television, Athol Fugard has maintained an international presence for more than 30 years.

Time Magazine called him, "The greatest active playwright in the English-speaking world." The New York Times said Athol Fugard is "one of the few living dramatists who can be talked about in terms of greatness."

Owen Sejake is one of South Africa's most recognizable actors whose list of theater credits include Death and the King's Horseman, Once on This Island, The Caucasian Chalk Circle and Julius Caesar. He is also well known for his television and film work.

Jennifer Steyn is another leading South African actress. Her repertory includes roles in The Dark Outsider, Angels in America and Skylight as well as numerous television and film credits.

Susan Hilferty has worked extensively on and off-Broadway, and in most of the major resident theaters throughout the U.S. as a set designer, costume designer and director.

Rave Reviews

The Captain's Tiger had its world premiere at the State Theatre in Pretoria, South Africa last fall where it opened to rave reviews.

MUSIC & THEATRE

Frances Slade Will Direct Amateur Society Reading

Frances Fowler Slade, director of Princeton Pro Musica, will conduct The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs in a reading of J. S. Bach's Mass in B-Minor on Sunday, April 26, at 4 in the Playhouse of The Westminster Choir College.

The soloists will be Julia Kemp Rothfuss, soprano, Maria Fenty Dennison, alto, and Jack Zamboni, tenor. A 35-piece chamber orchestra will provide the accompaniment.

No audition is required to sing in the chorus, and singers of all ages and experience levels who enjoy choral singing are welcome to join the chorus on a one-time basis for a $5 admission fee or to join as a member for the season for $25 ($40 for couples). The admission fee includes refreshments and the use of a choral score. Students and non-participants are admitted free of charge.

The monthly meetings of the Society, now in its 63rd year, are attended by an average of 100 singers.

This is the last meeting of the season, and the 1998-99 schedule will be announced early in the fall. For additional information, call Mary Kemp, president, at 394-5034.

sion and understanding of the human condition. It deserves to be seen. Athol Fugard is charismatic and arresting. He kept the opening night audience mesmerized," wrote The Citizen of Johannesburg.

The Captain's Tiger has been invited to be part of the Spoleto Festival U.S.A., one of the country's leading arts festivals held annually in Charleston, S.C. Future productions are planned for the La Jolla Playhouse and the Kennedy Center.

Tickets for previews, Tuesday, May 5 through Thursday, May 7, are $17 and $20. Tickets for all other performances, Friday, May 8 through Sunday, May 24, range from $25 to $35.

McCarter Theatre continues its policy of making live theater accessible to patrons of all economic levels, with two "Pay-What-You-Can" performances of The Captain's Tiger on Wednesday, May 5 at 8 and Sunday, May 17 at 7:30. Tickets must be purchased at the box office on the day of performance, and are subject to availability.

To charge tickets by phone call 683-8000.

New Cultural Exchange With South Africa

At a press conference Monday, McCarter Theatre announced that a new culturaf exchange with South Africa will allow the American premier of Athof Fugard's The Captain's Tiger to be presented at McCarter with the original South African cast.

In exchange, American actresses Lizan Mitchell and Micki Grant will star in a production of Emily Mann's play, Having Our Say, at The Market Theatre in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The Captain's Tiger will open at McCarter May 8. Opening night for Having Our Say is June 30.

In a fetter to McCarter Artistic Director Emily Mann, South African producer Mannie Manim wrote, "ft is a life's dream for me that this is the beginning of real cultural exchange between our two countries. From the beginnings of the Market Theatre in 1976, we have been encouraged and befriended by our colleagues in America, and throughout the first two decades of the life of the Market Theatre, many of our productions traveled to very receptive audiences throughout your country. Having Our Say seems to be an ideal choice to be the American half of this first and historic exchange."

In a joint statement, Having Our Say producers Camille O. Cosby and Judith Rutherford James said, "We believe that this exchange between the U.S. and South Africa is a great opportunity to help us learn about our positive differences and be enlightened about our human similarities relating to ethnicity, religion, gender, and culture. For us it is a compelling and exciting context to mark the first international performance of Having Our Say."

Princeton Chamber Symphony Stretches Richardson's Seams With Bold Operatic Compilation for 1997-98 Season Finale

The Princeton Chamber Symphony presented a varied assortment of opera selections on Sunday afternoon in Richardson Auditorium as the closing concert of the 1997-98 season. Conductor Mark Laycock compiled representative works from ten opera composers, all European or Russian, and most from the 19th century, representing both the well-known and the obscure.

The Symphony was joined in this performance by soprano Juliana Gondek and tenor Ian DeNolfo. The most fully represented opera was Bizet's Carmen, whose excerpts were performed as the entire second half of the concert.

Mark Laycock opened the concert with Verdi's overture to Nabucco, Verdi's third opera. The overture began with the three trombones and tuba of the Symphony playing cleanly. Mr. Laycock was able to capture well the contrast between the solemn brass and the martial flavor of the full orchestral sections. Nabucco was a very political opera for its time and its overture is full of themes associated with oppressed peoples throughout the ages. The orchestra shifted musical gears multiple times for the rest of the program, ranging from the lighthearted Die Fledermaus to the very full and rich orchestration of Carmen.

The Princeton Chamber Symphony will open its 1998-99 season on November 1 with an all Beethoven program. The Symphony will be joined in this concert by the Westminster Symphonic Choir, and the concert will include Beethoven's Triumphal March from Tarpeja, Cantata, Calm Sea and Prosperous Voyage, and Symphony No. 9.

Mr. DeNolfo began his series of selections with "Recondite armonia" from Verdi's Tosca, and had no trouble filling the hall with his massive operatic voice, although his diction was lost at times in the acoustic. His repertoire throughout the afternoon was well selected for a heldentenor, ranging from Puccini to selections from Pagliacci, and later Carmen.

Ms. Gondek sang selections of contrasting style and dramatic mood throughout the course of the afternoon. Beginning with "Adieu forets" from Tchaikovsky's The Maid of Orleans and concluding with Mr. DeNolfo in the Carmen selections, Ms. Gondek proved herself in command of her literature. Her best moments came in Dvorak's "Song to the Moon" from Rusalka, which was also among the best played selections by the orchestra. The Czech language and mood of the piece suited Ms. Gondek well, and the orchestra concluded the aria with an especially delicately-played cadence which withered away.

Mr. DeNolfo ended the first half of the program with a show-stopper: Puccini's "Nessun dorma" from Turondot. Probably best-known as Luciano Pavarotti's theme song for many years, this piece was also well-suited for Mr. DeNolfo, and audience clearly would have liked to have heard this one again.

Richardson Suited to Opera

For the second half, Mr. Laycock chose to link together several excerpts from Carmen, which no doubt required tricky editing for the orchestra, as these selections were from various parts of the opera, ranging from the Prelude to Act I to the Final Scene of the opera. Mr. DeNolfo and Ms. Gondek had the opportunity in these selections to display their acting and entertaining sense of style. Ms. Gondek had no trouble at all with the vocal range of these selections, despite the low register (Carmen is traditionally a mezzo role).

Mr. Laycock interspersed several orchestral overtures and intermezzi from operas in between the vocal selections, and the orchestra played consistently cleanly throughout the afternoon. This concert was about space as much as repertoire–bringing music from the opera stage into the concert hall. In these days when there are many arguments in major cities throughout the country on what is a "symphonic" hall vs. an "opera" hall, Mr. Laycock showed that Richardson is capable of being both. The soloist's voices were always well-matched by the orchestra, and clarity of line and orchestration was never a question.

numerous performance awards, including the Frederic Chopin Piano Award, and the Giuseppe Verdi Music Award. Ms. Liao is also an accomplished violist and organist, having played principal viola in the Juilliard Pre-College Orchestra. She currently serves as accompanist for the Princeton University Glee Club.

The program concludes with one of the greatest symphonic monuments of the 19th century, Elgar's Variations on on Original Theme ("Enigma"). The title refers to Elgar's tantalizing statement that "through and over the whole set, another and larger theme 'goes' but is not played." Generations of musical detectives have suggested solutions, ranging from Auld Lang Syne to God Save the King; the composer went to his grave without revealing the answer.

Tickets to the concerts, priced at $12; all students $5; are available at the Richardson Auditorium box office, 258-5000.

University Orchestra Will Present Memorial Concerts

The Princeton University Orchestra, Michael Pratt, conductor, will present the annual Stuart B. Mindlin Memorial Concerts on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 24 and 25, at Richardson Auditorium. The program consists of works by Samuel Barber, Otto Nicolai, Sir Edward Elgar and Sergei Rachmaninoff. The winner of the 1998 University Orchestra Concerto Competition, Emily Liao '01, will perform Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto in C Minor.

The Mindlin Concerts are a celebration of the life of Princeton resident and longtime Orchestra member Stu Mindlin, who befriended many generations of Princeton students before his untimely death in 1988. Proceeds from the concert benefit the Mindlin Memorial Fund, established by the Mindlin family to benefit Orchestra activities, including scholarships for private study.

The pair of April programs opens with Nicolai's Overture to The Merry Wives of Windsor, a sparkling early 19th century treatment of the amorous ambitions of Shakespeare's immortal fat knight, Sir John Falstaff.

The program continues with Samuel Barber's First Essay for Orchestra. Premiered by Arturo Toscanini and the NBC Symphony in 1938, this early work contains the seeds of the lyric beauty and rhythmic complexity that became Barber's hallmarks.

Ms. Liao will then join the Orchestra for performances of Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 2, one of the most popular and enduring works of the concert repertory. Emily Liao, a freshman at Princeton, is a student of David Buechner at the Manhattan School of Music. She is the recipient of

Princeton University Glee Club Presents "Elijah" With a Little Help from Professional Singers

It is easy to see why Felix Mendelssohn's oratorio Elijah became a staple of 19th century choral societies and remains a favorite chora/orchestral work today. There is something for everyone in this piece: lush orchestration, vocal solos full of lyrical line and melody, and a series of "mini-operas" depicting the drama of the Old Testament.

The Princeton University Glee Club undertook a great challenge by preparing this work as their spring concert, but conductor Richard Tang Yuk evidently knows just how far to push his student choristers and when to call in the "big guns" to raise the performance to a semi-professional level.

The Glee Club, conducted by Mr. Tang Yuk, presented Elijah on Saturday night at Richardson Auditorium. The almost 90-voice Glee Club, bolstered by a few non-students in the men's sections, were joined by four highly-qualified and credentialed vocal soloists and the always crisp and precise Concerto Soloists Chamber Orchestra. The four principal vocal soloists were non-students, but there were numerous smaller solos which provided the Princeton students with the opportunity to display their singing talents.

Bass Kevin Deas set the stage for this dramatic oratorio with a resonant and emotional introduction, followed by an orchestral Overture full of effective phrasing and subtle building of drama. Mr. Tang Yuk paced the work well, and maintained a good flow throughout the oratorio. The Glee Club was trained to produce a clean, light, and precise sound, which matched Mr. Tang Yuk's tempi.

Mr. Deas continued to hold the oratorio together throughout the evening with a dramatic and operatic interpretation of the role of Elijah, especially in the "Priests of Baal versus Elijah" sections. Mr. Deas was joined in the vocal quartet by tenor Robert Baker, mezzo-soprano Barbara Rearick, and soprano Cynthia Dawn Waggener.

Mr. Baker had less to sing than the other soloists, but projected a clean and forward sound, with precise diction. Ms. Rearick warmed up to her solos well, especially the second half "O Rest in the Lord." Ms. Waggener displayed a tremendous range of dynamics, especially in the second half air "Hear ye, Israel." The four soloists worked consistently well together, and were vocally well balanced with one another. The extended musical "conversations" among the soloists and the chorus were performed with precision.

Mr. Tang Yuk's approach ranged from the very Classical (as in the chorus "Blessed are the men who fear Him") to the very Romantic closing chorus "And then shall your light break forth." Throughout the evening, the chorus never seemed to tire, although one always wants to hear more sound from the tenors. Mr. Tang Yuk conducted without a baton, surprising considering the number of elements to hold together in this work, yet his players never lost sight of him.

Student Soloists

A number of students were featured as soloists in several ensemble pieces. Most notable was the double quartet "For He shall give his angels charge over thee," consisting of Majel Connery, Kelsey Namara, Emily Poe, Connie Pagedas, Jeremy Reid, Steve Lawrie, Bob Meisner, and Jason Kutch. Caitlin Durham, Kelsey Namara, and Kate MacKenzie sang the very well-known Angel Trio "Lift Thine Eyes," and Laura Certain had a prominent part as The Youth. These students all display a solid level of vocal instruction at the University.

The Concerto Soloists Chamber Orchestra is a top-notch orchestra from Philadelphia comprised of players who have played together for many years. Their ensemble work was impeccable throughout the evening. Although there were few instrumental solos in the course of the oratorio, the two-man cello section of James Cooper and James Holesovsky added immensely to the pathos of Elijah's aria "It is enough."

In recent years, the Glee Club has been undertaking a major work each year which demonstrates the growth in the ensemble and the popularity of participating in the Glee Club. This performance was not only among the best of these concerts, but also created a nice bridge between student and professional performers.

Fuma Sacra to Offer Works by Buxtehude

Fuma Sacra, an a cappella choral ensemble, will perform a selection of works by Dietrich Buxtehude Saturday, April 25, at 8 in Bristol Chapel on the campus of Westminster Choir College.

A great Danish organist and composer, Buxtehude had a strong influence on Johann Sebastian Bach. In 1705 Bach walked from his home in Arnstadt to the city of Lubeck to hear Buxtehude's music — 280 miles each way. Although Bach had been granted a leave of four weeks, he remained there four months, earning a reprimand from his employers.

The program will feature Ad Pedes (To the feet), Ad Genua (To the knees), Ad Manus (To the hands) and Ad Latus (To the side) from Membra Jesu Nostri, a cycle of seven cantatas. Composed for Holy Week, each cantata is about a different part of the body of Christ on the cross.

In addition to Membra Jesu Nostri in Latin, a selection of cantatas in German and Swedish will be performed. Baroque violinists Nancy Wilson and David Myford will join Fuma Sacra for this performance.

Conducted by Andrew Megill, Fuma Sacra is the ensemble-in-residence at Westminster. It is composed of graduates of Westminster and specializes in Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque music. Fuma Sacra has appeared at Festival dei Due Mondi in Spoleto, Italy and in the Berkshire Opera Festival.

Mr. Megill is the interim associate conductor of the Westminster Symphonic Choir and a member of Westminster's conducting faculty. In addition he is associate conductor and chorus master for the Garden State Philharmonic and opera chorus master for the Spoleto Festival U.S.A. in Charleston, S.C.

Admission to this performance is $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens. For more information call 921-2663. For 24-hour concert information call 219-2001.

Westminster Choir Plans Spring Concert In Bristol Chapel

The Westminster Choir, conducted by Joseph Flummerfelt, will perform a spring concert Friday, April 24, at 8 in Bristol Chapel on the campus of Westminster Choir College.

Accompanied by Nancianne Parrella, the choir will perform American choral classics of the 20th century, including works by Charles Ives, Samuel Barber, and Aaron Copland.

The choir will sing Ives' The Sixty-Seventh Psalm, excerpts from Persichetti's Mass, and Barber's Reincarnations. In addition, the choir will perform opera choruses including "The Promise of Living" from Copland's The Tender Land.

Composed of undergraduate and graduate students at Westminster Choir College, the Westminster Choir regularly tours throughout the United States and Europe. The 1997-98 season highlights include performances with Kurt Masur and the New York Philharmonic, Wolfgang Sawallisch and The Philadelphia Orchestra and Zdenek Macal and the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra.

Since 1977 it has been the chorus-in-residence for the Spoleto Festival U.S.A. in Charleston, S.C.

Conductor of the Westminster Choir, Joseph Flummerfelt is artistic director and principal conductor at Westminster Choir College.

Assistant conductor and accompanist of the Westminster Choir, Ms. Parrella is also accompanist of the Westminster Symphonic Choir.

Tickets for the Westminster Choir performance are $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens. For more information about this performance call 921-2663. For 24-hour concert information call 219-200f.

A SPRING CONCERT will be offered by The Westminster Concert Bell Choir Sunday, April 26, at 4 in Bristol Chapel, Westminster Choir College.

Hollywood Executive To Appear on Local Cable

Princeton resident Joseph Seldner, former assistant to the president of Columbia Pictures, will describe the lengthy, often-frustrating process of getting a script into the Hollywood "pipeline" on Thursday, April 23, at 8 p.m., on the next edition of A Fistful of Popcorn, Princeton's movie review program. The program, "Buy My Script, Please," may be seen on public access channel A-30.

Mr. Seldner grew up in Princeton. After graduating from Columbia University, he embarked on a career in journalism. Nominated for a Pulitzer Prize for national reporting at the Denver Post, he soon left the newspaper field to attend the Yale School of Management, after which he launched his Hollywood career.

One of his jobs in Hollywood was serving as development executive for actor Tom Hanks. Among his duties in that post was taking the "pitches" of screenwriters who wanted Mr. Hanks to act in their screen plays. "You learn to say 'no' in a lot of creative ways, but it's not as impossible as Hollywood execs want you to believe," Mr. Seldner says.

In Princeton, since his return, Mr. Seldner has taught a scriptwriting course at the Arts Council and the Princeton Adult School. "I try to teach people about the entire process, from idea to rewrites to collaborating with the dozens of people whose fingerprints are on every movie," Mr. Seldner says.

He will discuss the politics of Hollywood scriptwriting — and much more — with three of the program's four regular reviewers, Robert Brown, Marilyn Campbell, and Janet Stern.

The program will be repeated on Thursday night, April 30, at 8.

P.U. Chapel Choir To Perform Music Of Samuel Barber

The Princeton University Chapel Choir, under the direction of Penna Rose, will perform Proyers of Kierkegoord by Samuel Barber and All-Night Vigil by Sergei Rachmaninoff during its annual Milbank Concert at 8 p.m. on Saturday, April 25, at the Princeton University Chapel. In addition, the orchestra will play Adogio for Strings by Samuel Barber. The performance will be dedicated to the memory of Sonja Rudikoff Gutman, longtime member of the Princeton community and Chapel congregation.

In Proyers of Kierkegoord, Opus 30, Samuel Barber selected several prayers interpolated with Kierkegaard's writing and sermons which were written between 1874-1855. They are found in his journals: The Unchangeableness of God and Christion Discourses. The work was completed in January 1954 and first performed by the Boston Symphony on December 3, 1954 with Charles Munch conducting. The Princeton University Chapel Choir will be accompanied by strings, harp, percussion, and organ. The soloists are soprano Clare Mueller, alto Emily Eyre, and tenor John Daly.

All-Night Vigil, Opus 37, also known as the Vespers, was composed in 1915 by Russian-born pianist, conductor, and composer Sergei Rachmaninoff. The work is scored for o coppella chorus with alto and tenor solos. The choir will perform the first elght movements.

Adogio for Strings, Opus 11, also by Samuel Barber, was first performed in New York City on November 5, 1938 by the NBC Orchestra under Arturo Toscanini. It has become one of the most popular American works of serious music.

All are welcome to attend this concert free of charge. Doors open at 7:00. For more information, call 258-3654.

Relâche Ensemble Due At Princeton University

On Monday, April 27, at 8, in Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall, The Composers' Ensemble at Princeton will present the new music ensemble Relâche in a program including works by graduate student composers at Princeton University.

The April 27 program will begin with Outcome Inevitoble by Robert Ashley. The program will continue with girlmusic by Princeton graduate student Mary Wright who says about the work, "I've made structural guidelines and the instrumentalist and singer will improvise within the framework. The piece is a look at female stereotypes, but is not meant to be a parody."

Of Robert Bowen's Y.C. Groove. 7 on E, the composer says, "It features the pianist through an improvised quasi-jazz mid-piece vamp." Mr. Bowen is currently a Ph.D. candidate in music composition at Princeton University.

Following Intermission, the Relâche Ensemble will be joined by tenor Rinde Eckert for a performance of Anna Rubin's new work entitled A Short Entertoinment Concerning the Delowore & Rorlton Conol, co. 1830.

The program will conclude with a performance of With Wood, Wires, Hommers ond Mollets by Joseph Koykkar.

The Relâche Ensemble musicians include: Bob Butryn, saxophones and clarinets; Kathleen Carroll, viola; John Dulik, keyboards; Jon Gaarder, bassoon; Douglas Mapp, bass; Harey Price, percussion; Lloyd Shorter, oboe and English horn; Laurel Wyckoff, flutes.

The April 27 concert is sponsored by the Princeton University Department of Music and The Friends of Music at Princeton, and is open to the general public without admission charge.

"IN LAVA AND WAR," The Princeton Triangle Club's annual spring show, features, from left, Simone Zamore, Stefania Vanin, and Elise Cornet. Performances are Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25 at 8, and Sunday, April 26 at 7:30. To charge tickets, call the McCarter box office at 683-8000.

Classic Children's Novel To Be Brought to Stage

Theatreworks/USA will present its original musical production of The Secret Gorden at the Kelsey Theatre on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College, 1200 Old Trenton Road, on Saturday, April 18 at 2 and 4 p.m. Tickets are $7. Free parking is available across from the theater. To order tickets, call 584-9444.

Adapted from the Frances Hodgson Burnett classic, this is the story of spoiled and lonely Mary Lennox, who is cared for by household servants she orders around while in India with her parents. When Mary's parents die, she finds herself living at Misslethwalte Manor in Yorkshire, England with her uncle Archibald Craven, whom Mary has never met, and his housekeeper Mrs. Medlock, who will not be ordered around.

While Uncle Archibald mourns the mysterious death of his wife Lily, Mary looks for the estate's sealed-off garden that no one dares enter. Determined to find the garden as well as the source of the crying she hears in the house, Mary discovers both the garden and her neglected invalid cousin Colin. By befriending Colin and local boy Dickon Sowerby, Mary learns about friendship.

"4 Women of Egypt" To Be Screened Here In Dodds Auditorium

The director and three of the women featured in the award-winning, documentary, Four Women of Egypt will appear at Princeton University on April 29 as part of the American debut of this tale of friendship that thrives amid political change.

The screening will be at 4 p.m. in Dodds Auditorium in Robertson Hall, at the Woodrow Wilson School. A discussion will follow.

Tahant Rached, the Egyptian-born director who now lives in Canada, will appear with Amina Rachid, Shahenda Maklad, and Wedad Mitry, three of the women who are profiled in the film.

Four Women of Egypt chronicles the tale of four friends against the backdrop of tremendous political and social change in Egypt that began with the ascent of Gamal Abdel-Nasser in the 1950s.

These women differ greatly in their views and in their religious expression. Ms. Rachid, a university professor, is a non-practicing Muslim and political leftist who lived in Paris for years. Ms. Maklad is an advocate for peasants' rights whose husband was assassinated. Ms. Mitry, a retired teacher, is a trade unionist and women's suffragist.

And Safynaz Kazem, the fourth star of the film, is an accomplished theater critic who advocates strict adherence to Islamic law, including the wearing of the veil. But the women have one thing in common — they are strong believers in social justice.

"This is a film about friendship and tolerance," said Khaled M. Fahmy, assistant professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University, who is organizing the group's visit to the United States. "In spite of all their differences, they are able to maintain a high level of friendship. The film also portrays them as remarkable individuals — they are mesmerizing figures."

Prof. Fahmy, who knows the women in the film, first saw Four Women while in Egypt and was struck by its artistic value as well as the compelling stories of its subjects. He also felt that the film would appeal to Western audiences and help break through stereotypes that Westerners may have about Muslims, especially women who adhere strictly to Islam's rules.

The Princeton screening is part of a three-stop tour of the East Coast which is sponsored by groups at Princeton and New York University, the joint owners of a collection of films on Middle Eastern culture based at NYU, and by Columbia and Georgetown universities and the American Research Center in Egypt.

Westminster Bell Choir Plans Spring Concert

The Westminster Concert Bell Choir, directed by Kathleen Ebling-Thorne, will present its annual spring concert Sunday, April 26, at 4 in Bristol Chapel on the campus of Westminster Choir College.

The program will feature original compositions, traditional hymns and transcriptions of popular classics including Margaret Tucker's Rondo Exultate and Beach Spring, Karen Lakey Buckwalter's Nocturne in A Minor, selections from Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite and a transcription of Gabriel Faure's Pavane.

In addition, the Westminster Handbell Ensemble will perform Winter from Vivaldi's Concerto No. 4 and Kabalevsky's Comedian's Gallop. The handball ensemble is composed of five students who enjoy handbell ringing and aspire to be members of the larger Westminster Concert Bell Choir.

Director of the Westminster Concert Bell Choir, Kathleen Ebling-Thorne is a member of the sacred music department at Westminster. She is well known as a handbell clinician in the United States.

Admission to the bell choir concert is $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens. For more information call 921-2663. For 24-hour concert information call 219-2001.

ART REVIEW

Museum Exhibit Explores Half a Millenium And Three Periods of Chinese Landscape Art

Landscape in the Art and Painting of Late Imperial China," the most recent gallery installation at The Art Museum, Princeton University, bears testament to the fact that our late 20th century propensity for reviving artistic achievements from previous decades rather than going to the trouble of breaking new artistic ground is hardly unique to the modern era or to the western aesthetic.

As the millenium fades, today's print and television media have us harkening back to those golden days when we sank down into our rust-colored womb chair, wearing our platforms and bell-bottoms, and marvelled at the prowess with which Greg and Marsha Brady wrestled the monsters of adolescence. The last half-century of Imperial China, from roughly 1350 to 1900, found itself subject to an infinitely more refined, though often equally narcissistic, dynamic of artistic nostalgia and revival.

The exhibition of more than Chinese landscape paintings, on view now until June 14, is so rich and so thoughtfully presented it brings to mind the caliber of shows usually found in some of New York City's most treasured small, intimate art venues, like the Asia Society or the Morgan Library.

Incredible Depth

The incredible depth of the show (many works are on loan from the Metropolitan Museum and the Brooklyn Museum, not to mention works from Princeton's own formidable Morris Collection that haven't seen the light of day for decades) is another reminder of what a privilege it is to live in Princeton, where we can wander over to The Art Museum at lunch or on a Sunday afternoon, and lose ourselves in the rocky crags of coastal China, meditate on the gnarled limbs of the ancient pines, or, if fortunate enough to know some of the historic background, ponder court politics and the intellectual tides that buffeted them.

Mr. Shane McCausland, a Princeton University doctoral candidate, is guest curator of this exhibition and apparently the driving force behind its excellence. Three rooms comprise the exhibition space, and the works, on view chronologically, are ingeniously installed to highlight the rivalries of vying style factions of three distinct periods in late Imperial China.

NATURE'S OWN CALLIGRAPHY: the vertical rhythm of bamboo leaves mirrors the calligraphy in this 14th century Chinese hanging scroll, one of more than 40 works on view at the Princeotn Art Museum exhibition, "Landscape in the Art and Painting of Late Imperial China."

"I wanted to create a sort of overall tension," Mr. McCausland said of his installation, "I wanted to illustrate two styles, to show how the literati painters tried to use the calligraphic power of their brush to capture the essence of a landscape, while the court painters sought a more naturalistic technique. Once you understand this fundamental tension, you can see how these divergent approaches influence one another, converge and evolve."

Western Influence

Another interesting influence on the evolution of Chinese painting during this period is that of Western artists and Western perspective, evidenced vividly in several works on view produced after 1600, when contact between Chinese and Western explorers increased.

The Chinese painters were entranced with the cross-hatching they saw in Western engravings and interpreted them through their own vernacular as calligraphy. They also zeroed-in on Western perspective and abandoned their traditionally Chinese roving vanishing point for the strict, one-point geometric recession of Brunelleschi and Italian Rennaissance painters.

And then, of course, there are the countless and varied references to painting styles of earlier periods. The Sung and Yuan dynasties, among others, are all referred to on a multitude of levels, not altogether unlike the way we are barraged with Titanic's Edwardian-era romanticism one moment and the fun-loving prudishness of Grease the next.

Mr. McCausland will host a gallery talk on the exhibition on April 24 at 12:30 p.m. and April 26 at 3 p.m. The Art Museum, located in the middle of the Princeton University Campus, is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 to 5. For information call 258-3788. —Courtney Chapin

Watershed to Offer Photography Course On Nature in Spring

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association in Hopewell Township will offer a spring nature photography course, open to all, including beginners, starting on Wednesday, May 6.

The three-week course will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in addition, there will be two field trips on May 9 and May 16, or 23, to the Sourland Mountains and the Forsythe National Wildlife Refuge.

The course, under the direction of nature photographer Phil Moylan, will focus on spring subjects, including wildlife, wildflowers, and butterflies. Technical topics will include lighting, exposure, film, field techniques, equipment needs and use, close-ups, and telephoto shots.

Pre-registration is required; and enrollment is limited. The fee is $55 for members and $70 for non-members. For more information, or to register, call the Education Office at 737-7592.

WATERCOLOR SUNFLOWERS: This work of Princeton watercolorist Joanne Augustine, one in a series of "Jurassic Sunflowers," will be at the Coryell Gallery in Lambertville through May 31.

Exhibits

Princeton artist Susan Swartz will display her most recent paintings at the Present Day Club, 72 Stockton Street, starting April 29. The exhibit will continue through June 30.

Ms. Swartz, who uses both watercolors and acrylic paint, maintains studios in Princeton (One Palmer Square), San Francisco, and Park City, Utah. Her work, generally focused on images from nature, has been cited for its "remarkable tenderness of perception" and its "ability to capture the ephemeral."

The Gallery Stendhal in New York's Soho area exhibits Ms. Swartz's work; and her original acrylic paintings were shown this year, as well as last, in the New York Artexpo Show. She has also exhibited in the Miami International Art and Design Fair. A collection of the artist's limited edition prints has been touring the country since 1996, with the Art Buyers Caravan.

Ms. Swartz's work is represented in corporate and private collections throughout the United States, as well as in France, Germany, and Japan.

Gallery hours at the Present Day Club are weekdays except Wednesday, from 9 to 4. On Wednesday, the hours are 2:30 until 4. For more information, call 924-1014.

CAPTURING THE EPHEMERAL: Princeton artist Susan Swartz will exhibit her nature paintings, like this one, at the Present Day Club, 72 Stockton Street, from April 29 through June 30.

"Where Gods Roam," an exhibition of work by one of India's best known contemporary artists, M.F. Husain, opened April 21 at Princeton University in the Bernstein Lobby of the Woodrow Wilson School's Robertson Hall. It will remain through May 9.

The artist — whose various themes include explorations of human emotions and nature, as well as the diversity and richness of Indian mythology, tradition and history — uses the 19th Century technique of chine collé.

By overlaying Chinese rice paper on a hard surface, Mr. Husain has produced this collection of lithographs representing his interpretation of the world's religions.

Association, in collaboration with the A Gallery, New York, the exhibit is part of the 50th anniversary of Indian and Pakistani Independence. The exhibition coincides with the University's Asian Pacific American Heritage Month celebrations.

The public is invited to a reception on Saturday, April 25, in the Bernstein Lobby (Washington Road and Prospect Avenue) from 4 to 6. Daily gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. For more information, call 258-5006.

The creations of Pennington woodworker David Robinson will be on exhibit in the Stony Brook Gallery, the Stony Brook Watershed Association's gallery in Hopewell Township, starting Saturday, May 2. A reception will take place from 7 to 8:30 on Friday, May 1.

Rustic furnishings by Mr. Robinson, well known for his natural form furniture and garden structures, are featured in the exhibition. The artist will also show photographs of his large-scale outdoor work.

Mr. Robinson says that the logs and branches with which he builds dictate the designs he creates, and what he most enjoys is being in a stand of cedar and finding just the right branch for a particular piece.

Mr. Robinson's studio, Natural Edge, is located in Trenton. He has designed and built art for the landscape for more than 20 years. At one time, he served as director of restoration for New York City's Central Park. His work has been widely published; and some of his permanent installations may be found at the New York Botanical Garden, Wave Hill, Central Park, Poet's Walk Park, and Disney World.

Mr. Robinson will conduct a hands-on workshop, "Build a Rustic Garden Gate," on Wednesday, May 27, from 7:30 to 9; and Saturday, June 6, from 9 to 2. The cost is $60 per person, adults only, by reservation.

The gallery is open Wednesday-Friday, from 10 to 5, and Saturday, from 10 to 4. For more information, call 737-7592.

Clubs & Organizations

The Ladies Auxiliary of Princeton's First Aid and Rescue Squad will meet Sunday, April 26, at 1, at the Squad House, 237 North Harrison Street.

The annual "Tricky Tray" will be held Monday, April 27, at the squad house. Doors will open at 6.

American Legion Post 76, 95 Washington Road, will hold a flea market on Saturday, May 2, from 8 to 4. All proceeds will benefit programs for children and youth.

For space reservations, or to donate articles, call 799-1798.

Dr. William E. Reichman, Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, will report on the latest developments in the detection and treatment of Alzheimer's Disease, at the next meeting of 55 Plus, on Thursday, May 7. The meeting will start at 10, at the Princeton Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

Dr. Reichman, a Princeton resident, is one of the nation's leading authorities on Alzheimer's Disease and geriatric psychiatry. He currently leads research on a $1 million geropsychiatric study, funded by the Foundation of the University of Medicine and Dentistry.

On April 30, The Professional Roster will sponsor a public meeting on the topic "Me Inc.: Making the Shift from Job Security to Employment Security." The meeting will take place at 7:30, at the Lawrence Library (2751 Brunswick Pike at Darrah Lane.)

The Roster, a membership organization, sponsors public forums at least twice yearly in its endeavor to help job seekers and employers find one another.

Don Andersson, president of the Andersson Group in Cranford, will speak about six steps he has identified for job success. He sees workers as necessarily taking charge of themselves and their careers by making a dramatic shift in the way they think of themselves not as employees in specific jobs, but as resources for others.

The Roster, now located at 1000 Herrontown Road, will move to 842 State Road (Route 206), effective May 5.

For more information, call 921-9561.

The Princeton Area Wheaton College Alumnae/i Club will sponsor a benefit on Saturday, May 2, at Drumthwacket, the official residence of New Jersey Governor Christine Todd Whitman, who is a Wheaton graduate. The governor will be honorary chair of the event, a cocktail party to benefit the Wheaton College Scholarship fund.

Alumnae involved in planning the fundraiser include Marty Akers and Lesley Johnston, co-presidents of the Alumnae/i Club; and Mary C. Murdoch, who will chair the benefit.

For more information, call the office of Alumnae/i Relations at (508) 285-8207.

Mary Downing will discuss "Air Crashes" at the next meeting of the Astrological Society of Princeton, on Sunday, May 3, at 2:30. The meeting, where Ms. Downing will speak about factors one should consider when booking a flight, will take place in the Fleet Bank of Rocky Hill.

Members of the public are welcome to attend the lecture, which will be followed by a social hour. For more information, call 924-4311.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Princeton Engine Co. #1 will hold a rummage sale on Friday, May 1, from 12 noon to 8; and Saturday, May 2, from 9 to 1, at the Chestnut Street Firehouse.

Support Sources

The Dr. Dean Ornish Support Group will meet on Monday, April 27, at 6:30, at the Princeton Public Library, 65 Witherspoon Street, in the upstairs meeting room. A new 70-minute video of Dean Ornish teaching simple choices in diet and lifestyle that can cause powerful changes in health and well-being will be shown. For more information, call Arlene Hauser at 921-1212, ext. 118.

The Princeton Senior Resource Center will sponsor a six-week caregivers' support group, starting on Wednesday evening, April 29. Weekly sessions will run from 6:30 to 8.

Facilitated by Beverly A. Zola, a nationally-certified gerontological counselor, the group will seek to help those responsible for the care of elderly relatives to strike a balance between caregiving and the caring for themselves.

The group is open to the community, but registration is required. Call 924-7108.

H.O.P.E., (Helping Other People Evolve), a support and information program for recently widowed men and women of all ages, will continue its spring session of weekly meetings on April 27, with the topic, "Unsympathetic Sympathy — Hurtful Comments and Helpful Responses."

Sponsored in Mercer County by Samaritan Hospice, H.O.P.E. meets at St. Ann Church, Lawrenceville. New members are welcome to attend. Registration for the session will close after April 27. For information, call 1-800-966-4488, ext. 788.

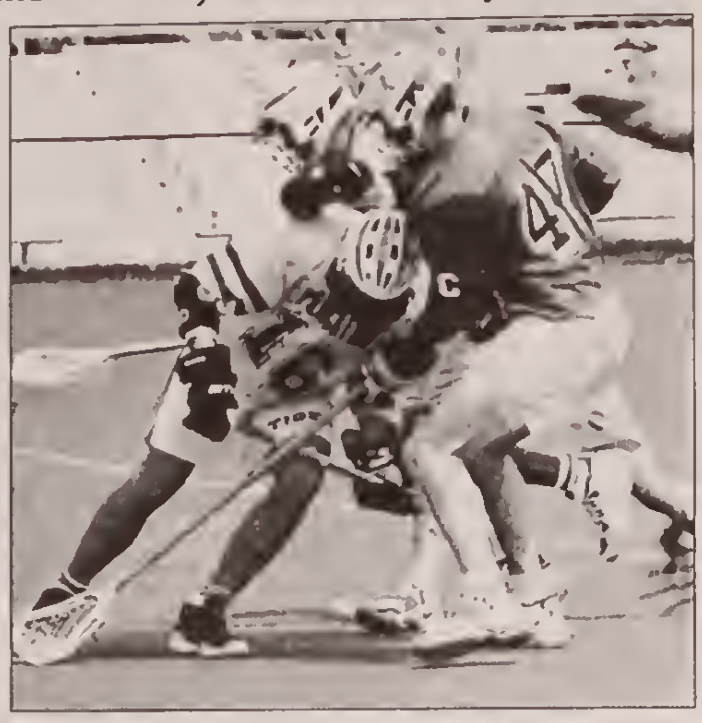
A First for Tiger Volleyball: Final Four in Hawaii, Lacrosse Teams Roll On, but Harvard Upsets Crew



ALL IN A DAY'S WORK: Jesse Hubbard, who scored four times against Cornell Saturday, battles a pair of Big Red defensemen for the ball.

Bill Tierney has never spared his men's lacrosse teams from a verbal berating when they haven't played up to their potential.

At halftime of Saturday's Ivy League contest against Cornell, Princeton's head coach certainly had some frustration to take out on his players. Against a 4-6 Big Red squad, his Tigers — ranked No. 1 in the country — had trailed for most of the first half before three quick second-quarter goals gave them a tenuous 5-4 lead at the break.

But the coach was uncharacteristically restrained in the halftime locker room, as Cornell had given Tierney and his Princeton squad plenty to think about over the first 30 minutes of play.

"At halftime, we had to adjust to so many things," Tierney said, cracking a smile. "There wasn't much time for fire and brimstone."

Apparently, there wasn't much need, either. Princeton emerged from the locker room a different team, erupting for 10 consecutive goals in the second half en route to a 15-5 victory at Class of 1952 Stadium.

But Princeton's hottest team was playing 30 miles away in Newark, where the men's volleyball team upset Penn State and Rutgers-Newark in the Eastern Intercollegiate Volleyball Association tournament to earn its first-ever berth in the NCAA Final Four.

Meanwhile, while the sixth-ranked women's lacrosse team knocked off Harvard, the Crimson proved to be the nemesis of every other Princeton team that faced it this weekend, sweeping softball to keep the Tigers at .500 in the league and delivering both men's heavyweight crew and women's tennis their first losses of the spring.

Third Period is Key

If the men's lacrosse team could start every game in the third quarter, its fans could leave Class of 1952 Stadium after the first 15 minutes. The Tigers have outscored their last five opponents by a combined 23-2 margin in the quarter, turning several nailbiters into comfortable Princeton victories.

Saturday at home, the Tigers used a 6-0 third quarter to improve to 4-0 in the Ivy League (7-1 overall). Princeton's third-quarter shutout — its fourth in the last five games — was part of a 40:16 stretch in which the nation's top-rated defense kept Cornell off the scoreboard.

Getting to that third period hasn't always been easy, however. Three minutes into the second quarter, Cornell held a 4-2 advantage, and goalie Rich Yost was saving almost everything the Tigers sent his way, including five shots by senior attackman Jesse Hubbard.

"I wanted to shoot high all day, but all I could get were low shots," Hubbard said. "Then I started getting more open shots where I could go high. We knew [Yost] was good at his feet."

After goals by Chris Massey and Lorne Smith knotted the score at 4-4, a rising sidearm shot by Hubbard found the upper right corner of the net and gave Princeton its first lead of the game entering halftime. From there, the Tiger offense took control, finding the net 10 straight times before Ian Hafner notched Cornell's only goal of the second half.

Hubbard, Princeton's all-time leading goal-scorer, finished the afternoon with four tallies to give him 184 for his career. Massey added three goals, and Jon Hess, who had missed the previous game with a pulled hamstring, returned to score twice.

As they try to wrap up a fourth straight Ivy League title, the Tigers won't get any rest over the next two weeks: the Cornell game began a tough 15-day stretch in which the Tigers play five games. After Tuesday night's home matchup with Rutgers (played too late to be included here), Princeton will visit Dartmouth Saturday before hosting Penn next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

But don't expect a busy game schedule to faze these Tigers.

"They're excited," Tierney said. "At this time of year, the kids love it."

Headed for Honolulu

If the men's lacrosse team is excited about league contests in New Hampshire and New Jersey, imagine how the men's volleyball team feels after earning a trip to Honolulu to compete in the NCAA Final Four.

No unranked or non-scholarship team had ever advanced to the Final Four before Saturday, when the third-seeded Tigers swept top seed Rutgers-Newark in the EIVA finals, 15-12, 15-12, 15-6. On April 30, Princeton (16-8) will join the Midwest representative, No. 10 Lewis, and two Western teams — most likely No. 1 UCLA and No. 3 Pepperdine — in the national semifinals at the University of Hawaii.

The Tigers had lost two matches earlier this season to No. 14 Rutgers-Newark, but Saturday they turned in a near-flawless performance against the tournament hosts to record the upset. Seniors Scott Birdwell and Jeff Cooper combined for 41 kills, while tournament Most Valuable Player Jason Morrow racked up 67 assists to lead Princeton.

The Tigers' championship marked the first time in eight years that Eastern powerhouse Penn State did not claim the EIVA title. This year the Nittany Lions ran into red-hot Princeton in last Thursday's semifinals, and the Tigers ended Penn State's reign with a thrilling 15-7, 15-13, 16-14 victory.

Two Wins for Women

The women's lacrosse team found two ways to win this past week as it moved to 9-2 overall (4-0 Ivy League). Wednesday against Delaware, the Tigers came out slowly and found themselves down 4-1 late in the first half before launching a 10-1 run to defeat the Blue Hens, 11-5.

Saturday at Harvard, they took the opposite approach: grab an early lead and then let your defense take over. Princeton reeled off five goals in the game's first 12 minutes on its way to a 6-3 halftime lead, but couldn't find the net even once in the second half.

It didn't matter. A stingy Princeton defense held the Crimson to just 12 shots on goal all afternoon, and netminders Amber Mettler and Laura Field combined to make four saves.

Cristi Samaras, the Ivy League's leading scorer, tallied seven goals over the two games, while Melissa Cully increased her streak of games with at least one goal to nine.

If the Tigers avoid an upset Wednesday against visiting Penn, and Dartmouth can get past Harvard, then Princeton and Dartmouth will meet Saturday in a 1 p.m. matchup at Class of 1952 Stadium to determine the Ivy League champion.

Sad Story for Softball

After losing its top hitter (Mandy Pfeiffer) and pitcher (Maureen Davies) from a year ago to graduation, the softball team had to know that reclaiming the Ivy League crown it held from 1994 to '96 would not be easy.

But the Tigers didn't expect to be eliminated from contention with four league games still remaining in their season. For the second straight weekend, Princeton was swept by one of its two Ivy opponents, leaving the squad at 4-4 in the league and 22-14 overall.

Just as Cornell had a week ago, Harvard used a pair of dominating pitching performances to earn victories of 1-0 and 2-1 on Saturday at 1895 Field. The Crimson now boasts an 8-0 record and stands alone in first place, four games ahead of third-place Princeton.

The Tigers bounced back against Dartmouth, riding a one-hitter by Sarah Peterman to a 4-0 win in the opener. In the second game, a leadoff home run by Andrea Alary sparked a three-run third inning that was just enough to edge the Big Green, 3-2. Alary extended her hitting streak to 11 games and boosted her batting average in Ivy contests to a sizzling .500.

After hosting powerful Connecticut Thursday, the Tigers close out their Ivy League season at Brown and Yale this weekend.

Crushing Loss on Charles

Last season, the men's heavyweight crew completed its first undefeated head-to-head season in 116 years. It won't happen this spring, after Princeton suffered a narrow 0.4-second defeat at the hands of Harvard's first varsity boat Saturday in the 2,000-meter Compton Cup on the Charles River in Cambridge. The Tigers (5-1), who still finished 35 seconds ahead of the third competitor, MIT, lost an early lead at the 600-meter mark and saw their late charge come up just short.

Women's open crew, ranked fourth nationally at 6-1, recorded a 2.5-second win over No. 3 Virginia and also beat Yale in a Saturday race on Lake Carnegie. The men's lightweights improved to a perfect 4-0 by defeating Rutgers and Cornell, while the women's lightweights (3-1) cruised past Wisconsin and Virginia.

The real competition for the women's lights came the following day, when they met the rowers who have fast become the arch rivals for a Princeton program in its inaugural season. Princeton and top-ranked Radcliffe had split their first two meetings, but Sunday in Camden, Radcliffe gained the upper hand in the young rivalry, edging the second-place Tigers by 2.7 seconds in a race that also included crews from Virginia, Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

Harvard had dealt Princeton another crushing blow at the Lenz Center on Saturday, where the Crimson prevailed in a battle of the Ivy League's two unbeaten teams. After sweeping Dartmouth 9-0 on Friday, Princeton (13-1 overall, 5-1 Ivy League) had not lost in 12 outings, but Harvard proved to be too strong for the Tigers, recording a 6-3 victory to claim the league championship. Princeton can still earn an at-large bid to May's NCAA Regionals, but they will need to survive Saturday's Ivy finale at Cornell.

Despite shooting consistently all season, neither of Princeton's golf teams could nail down a title at the Ivy League Championships this past weekend. In Bethpage, N.Y., the women finished in second place, a single stroke behind Yale, while the men placed fourth behind Ivy champion Penn.

The women's water polo team, enjoying its highest-ever No. 14 national ranking, finished third at the Mid-Atlantic Championships held in DeNunzio Pool. In their semifinal matchup with No. 17 Slippery Rock — a team no current Princeton player has ever defeated — the Tigers (20-8) rallied from a 4-2 deficit on goals by Celeste Henery and Katherine Kixmiller to force overtime before dropping a heartbreaking 6-5 decision.

NOTES: Although it defeated Cornell, Princeton nevertheless fell into second place in the weekly USILA Poll, behind Maryland. The Terrapins, 10-1, also won last week, and garnered 196 points to the Tigers' 192. Johns Hopkins remained in third, Loyola, fourth and Virginia, fifth.

Tiger Baseball Splits with Lowly Lions; Weekend's Penn Series Is Key in Ivy Race

Usually, a 2-2 split in a road series would be a satisfactory performance for the Princeton baseball team, but the Tigers were surely disappointed to return from their four games at Columbia this weekend with only two wins. The struggling Lions entered the weekend with an overall 6-23 record, giving Princeton the hope of cementing its Gehrig Division lead. Instead, the Tigers return with a 8-4 League record, leaving them well within striking distance of Cornell (7-5) and still within reach of perennial rival Pennsylvania (8-8).

The weekend started out well enough, with the Tigers cuffing three Columbia pitchers for 10 runs on 15 hits on the way to a 10-3 win in the opening game.

Mike Hazen led the charge, going 4-for-4 with a home run, three doubles, one run scored, and four RBIs. Justin Griffin was 3-for-3 with a double, two runs scored, and three RBIs. Buster Small smacked two doubles and scored twice.

On the mound for Princeton, Bryan Stroh worked through seven full innings for the complete game win. The righty from Iowa allowed three runs on seven hits, struck out seven and walked none.

In the second game, the roles were reversed. Princeton starter Tim Killgoar suffered his first loss of the season, being lifted after just 1⅔ innings. Killgoar gave up all six runs in the Lions' 6-2 victory, as Columbia got to him for eight hits, including three home runs, in the first two innings. Howard Horn shut the Lions down with 4⅓ innings of two-hit scoreless relief, but the Tiger batters were unable to close the gap.

Columbia's Dan Brunello threw a complete-game two-hitter, striking out only two and allowing only one earned run.

Rain Delay

The second doubleheader, scheduled for Sunday afternoon, was postponed to Monday due to rain. The Tigers once again started well, taking a 5-1 win in the opener, but they went on to squander a 10-4 lead in the nightcap, eventually losing 11-10.

Hazen doubled and homered against the Lions in the opener, scoring once and collecting two more RBIs. Justin Griffin was 2-for-3 with a double and two runs scored, while brother Asher Griffin was 1-for-2 with two runs scored.

Joe Machado made the start for Princeton, and except for a one-run hiccup in the third inning, enjoyed a very smooth afternoon. He pitched six innings, allowing just one run on four hits and two walks, while striking out six. Jeff Golden walked two but gave up no hits in an inning of scoreless relief.

The Tigers appeared to be on cruise control at the start of the second game, opening a 7-0 lead after two and a half innings, but then things started to go wrong.

Starter Jason Quintana gave up four runs in the bottom of the third inning, and had trouble in the fourth as well, giving up five more. His teammates had added three runs in the top half of the inning, so Quintana left the game with a 10-9 lead, but a win was not in his future.

Golden came in to relieve Quintana in the fifth, and gave up one run to tie the score at 10. After a scoreless sixth inning, the Lions came to bat in the bottom of the seventh, and scored the winning run on a one-out double off Golden.

Matt Evans' performance at the plate drove the Tiger offense. The first baseman was 3-for-4 with a home run, a double, three runs scored, and two RBIs. Small was 2-for-4 for the Tigers, and Justin Griffin continued his hot streak, going 2-for-4 as well, with a double and two RBIs.

Princeton hosts Temple University at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, in preparation for a four-game home series with Pennsylvania this weekend. Games are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, with play beginning at noon. —Rob Garver

Talented Center Chris Krug Chooses Tigers; Recruiting Class Promises Future Success

The rest of the Ivy League looks at the Princeton basketball program these days and sees a vicious circle at work. The Tigers win big games, which attracts big-time players; the big time players go on to win more big games, which attracts other big-time players, who come in to win still more big games ... and on and on, od nouseam or infinitum, depending on your point of view.

Could it be that this whole Princeton basketball thing really has become a self-perpetuating success story? Success breeds success, after all, and as the immensely talented Class of 1998 steps offstage, a highly promising class of 2002 waits in the wings, having been drawn to Princeton by the exploits of the very players they have been called on to replace.

Princeton played numerous nationally televised games last season, was ranked in the Top 10, and was featured in Sports Illustrated and just about every major newspaper in the country. "The exposure," as prized Germantown Academy center Chris Krug put it, "was tremendous." Coach Bill Carmody and assistants Joe Scott and John Thompson milked that exposure for all it was worth, using it to sell the Princeton program to what may be the strongest recruiting class the Orange and Black has seen in years.

SITTING PRETTY: Tiger fans will be sorry to see the magical Class of 1998 depart, but coach Bill Carmody has rounded up a number of freshman recruits who look capable of softening that blow.

Krug, the 6'9 brother of former Pennsylvania star Tim Krug, grabbed headlines across the region last week, when he announced his decision to attend Princeton over Penn. Listed by Street and Smith's as one of the top prospects in the entire country, Krug averaged 18.2 points, 14 rebounds, three assists, and seven blocked shots per game at Germantown Academy.

Jim Fenerty, Germantown's director of athletics and basketball coach, says, "Chris Krug has not touched the tip of his potential yet. He only started playing basketball in the eighth grade. I think he's just going to blossom."

Krug got very used to playing while double- and triple-teamed during his high-school career, and developed into "a very effective passer," Fenerty added. "He runs the floor exceptionally well, and he has good hands," Fenerty said. "I think [Princeton] is the perfect system for him, because he also shoots the ball exceptionally well."

With coaches and fans at both Princeton and Penn on tenterhooks while he made his choice, Krug reports that he felt a certain amount of relief when he came to his final decision. "In a lot of ways it was a relief, but it wasn't all that overwhelming. It took a while for it to sink in once I had made the decision," he said.

There was no overall reason why he chose the one school over the other, Krug claims: "A lot of it was just the atmosphere, and the feeling I got when I visited campus." Credit Carmody and company for bringing Krug to campus while the basketball atmosphere was at its most intense: when Krug arrived, the Tigers were preparing for the NCAA Tournament, and a small village of ticket-seekers was camped outside Jadwin Gym hoping to get seats for the opening round games.

Krug got the chance to go over some game tapes with Carmody, giving him a quick primer on the Tiger offense. "He broke it down for me," Krug says, claiming that he is not intimidated by the apparent complexity. "It's made up of certain basic things," he says.

The most basic thing, of course, is a center who can play both under the basket and at the foul line. For the next four years, Princeton hopes, that basic element will be Krug.

"It's good to get a center," says Carmody. "Nobody's going to replace Stevie, of course, but it's good to fill that hole."

Talented Classmates

With Steve Goodrich, Mitch Henderson, and James Mastaglio all graduating, Princeton will have a combined average of 100 minutes per game to distribute among the remaining players on the squad. According to Carmody, the incoming freshman class may gobble most of them up.

"Next year there's going to be a real opportunity for these guys to get some playing time," he says, comparing the incoming class, in terms of talent, to the outgoing members of the class of 1998, who all started at some point in their freshman year.

High on the list of potential impact players is former Hun School standout Eugene Baah. A native of England, Baah is currently finishing up a post-graduate year at Northfield-Mount Herman. "He's 6'4, a very skillful dribbler, and a very good passer," says Carmody. "He's a real competitor, and I just like the kid. I'm looking forward to coaching him."

Baah is joined by 6'3 Ahmed El Nokali, a talented but skinny scorer out of Pittsburgh. "He has to get stronger. All these guys have to get stronger," says Carmody. "It's the same with almost every freshman who comes in. There's a big difference that way between high school and Division I."

The list goes on: Ray Robins, an athletic 6'6 forward from California has committed to Princeton. "He's a good dribbler and he jumps well," says Carmody. Phil Jackman, a raw but talented 6'4 California native will join him. Also on the list is Chris Martin, a 6'7, 250-pound forward out of Episcopal Academy in Alexandria, Virginia. "He's very strong, and if he decides he wants to be good, he can be very good," is Carmody's observation.

There are others, too, guys like Chris Young, a 6'9 Texan, and Mike Bechtold, a shooter out of Pennsylvania, who haven't yet committed to Princeton and whom Carmody will not discuss.

The perpetual skepticism that comes with a head coaching job rises to the surface, of course, when Carmody talks long enough about his recruits. "You can't judge it until you see what they do," he says. "You never know which guys are going to do it for you."

No, you don't. But Carmody, and the rest of the Ivy League can look at the Tigers' class of 2002 and assume that, at the very least, some of them will. —Rob Garver

Decisions regarding large sums of money can be a challenge. But if you're like most women, you approach financial decisions by marshalling the facts, comparison shopping, asking questions.

And that's smart business.

Because, while a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant can help you understand the markets, only you know your financial dreams, goals, and personal investment style. It takes both of us – working together – to develop a financial plan with specific strategies to help you realize those financial dreams.

That's why our Financial Consultants encourage you – and all our clients – to ask as many questions as necessary. Because sound financial planning is a dialogue, not a monologue.

To find out how a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant can help you take control of your financial future, write or call the number below for a place at our free Investment Seminar for Women.

The difference is planning.

The difference is Merrill Lynch.

Panther Baseball Proving Itself The Class of Prep B

The Princeton Day baseball team has not had much success against public high school teams, but it certainly is proving itself the class of the Prep B division.

The Panthers have beaten their first three Prep B opponents by the combined score of 53-2. Two more victories came last week, a 17-1 pounding of Wardlaw-Hartridge and a 20-1 romp over Rutgers Prep. On the schedule this week is a make-up of a contest against Ranney (rained out last Friday) scheduled to be played this past Tuesday, a Thursday game against Peddie and a Saturday contest against Saddle River.

A 2-5 Wardlaw-Hartridge team proved no match for PDS last Wednesday in a game that lasted just five innings. It could have been called after two when the Panthers had a 10-1 lead, thanks to a seven-run first inning. Six PDS players, led by Brian Avery had two hits. Avery walloped a pair of home runs, good for five RBIs and scored three times.

Jesse Thompson also had a home run among his two hits. The beneficiary of all this support was pitcher Brian McKitish, who might have wished the Panthers had saved some hits for another outing. He allowed the Rams just two hits and one unearned run through five innings.

Saturday morning there was more of the same as PDS crushed Rutgers Prep with a 14-hit effort that included another pair of home runs by Avery, good for six RBIs, and a career day by Rob Paun, who blasted three hits including two four baggers and drove in six runs. Jesse Thompson had two hits and four runs batted in, Matt King collected two hits and batted in two.

PAUN WAS ALMOST PERFECT: PDS pitcher Rob Paun twirled a two-hitter against Rutgers Prep last Saturday, allowing just one run, and that was unearned. His season record is now 1-2.

When Paun wasn't creating havoc for Rutgers Prep at the plate he was on the mound, limiting the visitors to one unearned run and one hit, while striking out five. His record is now 1-3.

In the second half of a doubleheader on Saturday, the shoe was on the other foot, as the Panthers fell to 9-1 Interboro in a "pitcher's battle," 21-14. The winners, who started with a 10-run first and never looked back, slammed seven homers among their 12 hits off pitchers Avery and Paun. The Panthers' fielding wasn't any better than their pitching; they committed eight errors.

McKitish sparkled at the plate with four hits and two RBIs, Zach Thompson had three hits, and Andy Doss and Ben Petrick a home run and three RBIs apiece.

PDS Girls' Lacrosse Loses Pair of Games

The Princeton Day girls' lacrosse team saw its record dip to 1-5 with a pair of losses last week, 14-11 to Peddie and 17-5 to Moorestown. Scheduled for this week are games against Hun, Blair and Hopewell Valley.

The Peddie contest was close from start to finish, but after overcoming a 2-0 deficit at the start, the Falcons managed to hold a slight lead for almost all the game. They led by one, 6-5, at the half and stayed ahead throughout the final 25 minutes to a 14-11 final.

Lauren Welsh did her best, scoring five goals to keep PDS close and Anne Jamieson added three, but it wasn't enough. Robin Ackerman added a pair of goals and Emily O'Hara, one. Both teams had 30 shots on net; Amanda Helwig made seven saves.

In past years the game against Moorestown, which always seems to field a strong team and is 7-0 so far this spring, has been very competitive, but not this year. Welsh got a hat trick, but PDS could mange just two other scores. The winners led 15-3 by halftime and spent the rest of the game trying not to run up the score. Jamieson and Kari Zarzecki also scored for PDS.

PDS Tennis Wins First, Beating Pennington, 5-0

The Princeton Day tennis team finally got to play an opponent in its own league last Saturday, and responded favorably, beating Pennington 5-0.

That came after a 5-0 defeat by Princeton High, leaving the Panthers' record at 1-3. This week PDS had matches scheduled against Peddie, Morristown-Beard and Saddle River. The Mercer County Tournament will begin on Monday.

Playing a tough Princeton High team last Wednesday, it was no surprise the Panthers could not win even one match. All players lost in two sets, one without taking a single game. Kal Vepuri playing at second singles had the best showing, winning eight games in a pair of 6-4 sets.

SHE DOES IT ALL: Hun pitcher Erin Cahill threw four scoreless innings of two-hit softball against PDS on Saturday, and had a double and two RBIs at the plate. The Raiders pounded their crosstown prep rivals 16-1. (Photo by Bill Allen/NJ SportAction)

Raider Girls Win Two, Improving to 5-1

The Hun girls' lacrosse team stopped Morristown-Beard by a convincing 16-1 margin on Monday, to improve to 5-1 on the young season.

Merrin Kramer had four goals, Nina Tinari scored three, Marcy Long, Meghan Merritt, and Kate Turpin scored two apiece, and Kate Heddon, Kat Geiger, and Manuela DeBarros had one each.

In goal for the Raiders, Courtney Tierney made five saves on only six Mo-Beard shots.

Against Bridgewater-Raritan High School on Friday, the Raiders exploded for 10 goals in the first half, and coasted to the 15-3 win. Kramer netted five goals for the Raiders, and Long scored three. Hedden and Gabi Tuschak scored two apiece, and single tallies came from Tinari, Meghan Merritt and Mackenzie Merritt.

In goal for the Raiders, Tierney made 12 saves, while the defense limited Bridgewater to 15 shots.

The defense had no such success against Hunterdon Central a week ago Tuesday. The host team took 33 shots to Hun's 20, and walked away with a 17-10 lead.

Kramer had five goals and Tinari scored three, with Long and Hedden netting one apiece. Tierney had 16 saves on the afternoon.

Hun plays at Princeton Day School at 4:15 p.m. on Wednesday, and hosts Ridge at 4 p.m. on Friday. On Monday, the Raiders travel to Blair Academy.

Hun Softball Team on Streak, Wins Fifth Game in a Row

If there is a secret to the success of the Hun softball team, it may be the mindset in which the Raiders approach each game. "We're constantly using the words 'intensity' and 'focus,'" says coach Kathy Quirk, whose Raiders were 6-1 heading into a Tuesday afternoon game with Lawrenceville.

Then again, it might be the pitching. In games Hun has won, the opposition has averaged 0.83 runs per game.

More likely, it's both. The Raiders outscored three opponents by a combined 32-1 this week, to take their winning streak to five games in a row.

When the bats aren't working, as in a 2-0 win over Trenton High on Wednesday, pitcher Erin Cahill can be counted on to hold the opposition's offense in check. When the bats are working, well, Cahill usually holds the other team in check anyhow, but it's probably nice for her to know that she doesn't have to.

"I knew Erin was going to be able to step in and do the job," says Quirk of the pitcher who replaced the dominant Jessica Beattie. "She's got a really nice infield playing behind her, so she's not doing it all by herself."

The Raiders eked out a win against Trenton when Cahill knocked in a run in the fifth inning to break a scoreless tie. Keri Marino had a sixth inning RBI to add insurance as Cahill held the Tornadoes to two hits.

A Thursday afternoon trip to Morristown-Beard was far less demanding. Hun smoked the host squad 14-0, with Cahill throwing another two-hitter. Erica Rosenthal came up with a double, a triple, and a pair of RBIs. Lindsay McQuade had three RBIs and Lauren Kwiatkowski had two.

Against Princeton Day School on Saturday, the Raiders slugged their way to a 16-1 win behind four innings of two-hit ball from Cahill and one inning of relief from Merino.

Meena Subramoni was 3-for-4 at the plate with a double and four RBIs. Jen Miller was 3-for-3 with three RBIs, and Rosenthal was 2-for-2 with three RBIs.

Hun's game with Lawrenceville, too late for this issue, was played on Tuesday. The Raiders travel to the George School for a 3:45 p.m. game on Wednesday, and visit Rutgers Prep on Friday. A third consecutive away game, against Ranney, is scheduled for Monday.

THE MEDICAL CENTER AT PRINCETON AND THE PRINCETON OSTEOPOROSIS CENTER PRESENT:
STICKS AND STONES
ADVANCES IN THE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT OF OSTEOPOROSIS

Sticks and stones may break your bones, but there's a lot you can do to prevent fractures and other complications of osteoporosis. In the United States, 28,000 people have it or are at high risk of developing it due to low bone mass. This disease is responsible for more than 300,000 hip fractures annually, as well as more than a million fractures at other bone sites. Osteoporosis may also be associated with diseases of the joints, lungs, kidneys, and other organs.

Come to this informative seminar and hear the facts from the experts.

Raiders Stomp Foes In Three Mismatches

The Hun lacrosse team breezed through one of the easier weeks on its schedule, beating three over-matched opponents by a combined score of 30-8 this week and improving its record to 6-2.

Coach Steve Czelusniak reported that while the three walkovers didn't "test us for four periods" they were beneficial in that they allowed a lot of inexperienced players to get some playing time.

A week ago Tuesday, the Raiders topped Princeton High 7-1, limiting the Tigers to 12 shots along the way. Hun goalkeeper Fran Cattani made eight saves.

Brendan Tierney led the scoring for the Raiders with three goals. "Brendan has really come out of his shell this year. He's playing more aggressively." Tierney, who played set-up man to a strong set of seniors last year, has been called on to go to the goal more often this year. He has responded with 19 goals and 16 assists over eight games.

Also scoring for the Raiders were Bill Quirk, with two goals, and Brian Giordano and Frank Ventresca, with one apiece.

The Raiders drubbed East Brunswick 10-1 on Thursday, with four players scoring two goals each. Tierney, Ventresca, Josh Mack, and Max Wright each tallied twice. Giordano and Matt Schaefer had one apiece.

Against St. Benedict's on Saturday, the Raiders rolled to a 13-6 victory. Quirk's three goals led the Raiders, with Mack contributing two, and single tallies coming from Giordano, Wright, Ventresca, Schaefler, . Topher Lawton, Micah Sybor, Rob Kale, and Bill King.

The Raiders played Immaculata High School of Bridgewater on Tuesday, too late for this issue. On Friday, Hun visits Princeton Day School, for a 4 p.m. game. On Monday, Hun travels to prep rival Peddie for another 4 p.m. start.

PDS Softball Winless After Five Attempts

Tough times continued for the Princeton Day softball team last week as the Panthers lost a pair of games by wide margins.

Relief in the form of a first victory may come this week with PDS scheduled to have played Purnell this past Tuesday and Ranney on Thursday. Blair will be the opponent on Saturday.

Traveling to Edison last Wednesday to face Wardlaw-Hartridge, Princeton Day made a game out of it for 3½ innings. Three runs in the second gave PDS a 3-1 lead, it fell behind 5-3 in the third, then briefly tied the game at 5-5 in the fourth.

However, seven runs by the home team in the bottom of the fourth clinched the outcome, and the winners added four more for good measure in the sixth for a 16-6 final. Jen Woodruff absorbed the loss on the mound, but had a better day at the plate with a triple and two RBIs.

Playing Hun on Saturday, the Blue and White found itself down 16-0 after three innings, and the final two were a mere formality. PDS did manage to avoid a shutout in the fifth. The highlight of the Panthers' two-hit attack was Kerry Golcher's double.

PDS Lacrosse Splits 2; Season's Record Is 4-2

The Princeton Day School lacrosse team split a pair of games last week, losing to St. Joseph's 7-4, and beating Voorhees, 12-9. Scheduled this week are games against Princeton High School and Hun.

In the St. Joseph's contest a week ago Tuesday, PDS found itself down 2-0 at the end of the first period and never recovered. It was 3-1 at halftime and the visitors increased their lead to 6-3 at the end of three. Carl Rohrbach, Chris Westcott, Pat Holmes and Jonathan Schor scored single tallies; goalie Mark Trellman saved eight of 15 shots.

Led by Joe Nemiroff's four goals and two assists, the Blue and White built up a 10-2 lead after one half. The PDS attack quieted down after that, getting just four more goals, while Voorhees tallied seven to make the game somewhat closer. Rohrback also had four goals, Westcott, a pair, and Erinc Sen and Holmes, one apiece. Alex Potter made 11 saves out of 21 shots.

Raider Baseball Is 4-3 Losing to PHS, Steinert

The Hun baseball team lost two of three games this week, falling in a 3-2 squeaker to local rival Princeton High School, and getting drubbed 12-2 by Steinert. In between, Bill McQuade's Raiders took the time to slap around hapless Rutgers Prep, 20-0.

The Raiders were trailing 2-0 entering the bottom of the sixth inning against Princeton High School, but Alan Karafin's two-run double tied the score and helped set the stage for extra innings. After neither team scored in the seventh, the visiting Tigers were able to score in the top of the eighth, and Hun could not respond.

Karafin made the start for Hun and allowed two runs on eight hits over 6⅓ innings. Luke Tozzi allowed one run on one hit in 1⅔, and suffered the loss. Hun only managed four hits off PHS starter Mark Henry, with Karafin accounting for two of them.

Against Rutgers Prep, it was a 15-run third inning that made all the difference. (The Raiders actually scored four in the first, but that seemed irrelevant after the fourth.)

Hun collected 13 hits, and Rutgers Prep made nine errors to add to the offensive party. Matt Carroll doubled twice and scored two runs and had two RBIs for Hun. Karafin was 2-for-3 with a three runs scored and one RBI.

Against Steinert, the Hun bats were limited to four hits, while the Spartans touched Tozzi for 15. The game was stopped after five innings due to the 10-run rule. Karafin had two RBIs for the Raiders.

Hun plays Lawrence High School, away, on Wednesday afternoon. On Friday, the Raiders host St. Benedict's at 4 p.m.

Hun Tennis Tops Ranney, But Falls to Lawrenceville

The Hun tennis team split a pair of contests this week, falling to Lawrenceville, but beating Ranney.

Against Lawrenceville a week ago Tuesday, Rip Rice won 6-0, 6-1 at first singles and Dan Weinstein won 6-2, 3-6, 6-0, at seconds, but the success ended there.

Andy Saltman fell 6-1, 7-5 in third singles. Nick Rounds and Corey Sherman were stopped at first doubles, and John Turner and Mark Kance lost at seconds.

The Raiders beat Ranney 4-1 on Thursday, with two singles matches stopped due to darkness (with the Raiders winning in each case) to give Ranney a half point each. Dan Weinstein won 6-0, 6-0 at second singles. Rounds and Sherman won 6-2, 6-2 at first doubles, and Turner and Kance won 6-0, 6-0 at seconds.

Hun faces West Windsor-Plainsboro at 3:45 p.m. on Thursday, away. On Saturday, they host Blair at 1:30 p.m., with the Mercer County Tournament slated to begin on Monday.

Baseball Tryouts Set For Legion Post 218

Baseball players interested in trying out for the American Legion Post 218 baseball team are invited to attend tryouts, which will be held on the Valley Road baseball field from 9 a.m. to noon on three coming Sundays: April 26, May 3, and May 17.

Any player born between August 1, 1979 and July 1, 1983, who either lives in Princeton, attends Princeton High School, or attends Montgomery High School, is eligible to try out.

For information, contact Harry Mapps at 921-2094.

Little Tiger Lax Earns Second Win

The Princeton Little Tigers 5th and 6th grade lacrosse team scored another victory, beating East Brunswick 14-1 this weekend.

Zach LaPalme and Derek Jackson led the well-balanced scoring attack with four and three goals, respectively. Also scoring for the Little Tigers were Laddie Sanford, Harrison Buck, Nick Smith, and Russell Joye.

Goalie Clint Bell and a stubborn defense held the Blackhawks to a single goal.

The 4th grade Princeton Little Tigers squad participated in its first tournament at John Witherspoon School, the Chris Heinel Tournament, with eight teams competing, including one from Garden City Long Island. Leading scorer was fourth grader Sam Hayes.

MAKING THE STOP: Hun goaltender Courtney Tierney blocks a low shot, as teammate Manuela DeBarros looks on, during the Raiders' win over Bridgewater-Raritan on Friday. As of Tuesday, Hun was 5-1 on the season.

Tiger Baseball Now 3-4 After Pair of Wins

Coach John Miranda's Princeton High baseball team beat a pair of area rivals this week, to improve to 3-4 overall. A Monday game with Hightstown was postponed due to field conditions.

The Hun Raiders took Princeton into an extra inning a week ago Tuesday, before Colin Torre singled home Geoff Graydon with the winning run in the top of the eighth.

Mark Henry, a promising freshman righthander, limited the Raiders to two runs on four hits over 6⅓ innings. When Henry got into trouble in the seventh, Justin Miller came in and pitched 1⅔ innings of no-hit scoreless relief to take the win.

Jeff Mapps slugged two doubles on a day when he went 3-for-4 with one run scored. Bennett Fisher had a double and an RBI.

The Tigers rapped out 10 hits for 14 runs against Pennington on Thursday. The Red Raiders found themselves down 5-0 in the first inning, and 8-0 entering the fifth, when they scored their only runs off starter Kevan Graydon (5 IP, four hits, two runs).

Frank Bernazard returned to the lineup after missing a week with a hand injury and scored three runs for PHS. Mapps was 1-for-3 with a triple and four RBIs, Fisher was 2-for-4 with two runs scored and one RBI, Geoff Graydon was 2-for-4 with a double, a run scored, and three RBIs, and Travis Ruscil was 3-for-4 with one run scored and three RBIs.

PHS plays Nottingham, away, on Thursday, and is scheduled to participate in the Delran Tournament on Saturday. On Tuesday, the Tigers host Hamilton in a 4 p.m. start.

In Busy Lax Week, PHS Girls are 1-3

The Princeton High girls' lacrosse team faced some of its toughest competition of the season this week, and came away bruised, with a record that fell to 2-3.

West Windsor-Plainsboro peppered the Tigers goal with 38 shots on Monday, on the way to a 23-12 win. The 5-1 Pirates limited PHS to 19 shots on the day.

Laura Felveson made a five-goal contribution to the Tiger cause. Agata Andrevski, Amanda Willard, and Swatna Reddy scored two apiece. and Lea Crusey scored one. In goal, Hadley Hempel made 18 saves.

Felveson gave the Tigers a 15-14 win over Westfield on Saturday, scoring the winning goal with 30 seconds left on the clock to foil a late comeback by the host team. The Tigers had held a slim two-goal lead at the half, but needed Felveson's winner from the free position to clinch it.

Andrevski and Willard scored four goals apiece for PHS, and Felveson ended the day with three. Crusey and Liza Walters scored two apiece.

In goal, Hempel faced 20 shots and made seven saves.

Hopewell Valley stopped Princeton by a 15-14 score on Wednesday, in spite of five goals from Andrevski and four apiece from Felveson and Willard. (Ariel Goldblatt scored a single goal to round out the scoring.)

The Tigers were outshot 41-25, and only 10 saves from Hempel and four from Jana Schaich-Borg kept things close.

Hunterdon Central overpowered the Tigers a week ago Tuesday, winning 22-10. Andrevski had five for Princeton, Felveson had three, and Willard and Shelley Hughes had one apiece.

Hempel faced 38 shots and made 16 saves.

Princeton plays at Peddie on Wednesday afternoon, and hosts Rutgers Prep at 3:45 p.m. on Friday. On Monday, Princeton hosts Bridgewater at 4 p.m.

Princeton Tennis Falls To Powerful Pirates

The Princeton High tennis team played three matches this week, and all of them ended in 5-0 scores. Unfortunately, the Tigers only won two of them.

Princeton was shut out by a dominant West Windsor-Plainsboro squad on Monday, in spite of a hard-fought battle at first singles. Chris Prevost and Peter Pine fell 7-6 (8-6), 6-4 at first doubles, and David Chen and Aaron Krauss lost 6-2, 6-2 at seconds.

In first singles play, Scott Willig lost 6-4, 6-3 to Oliver Choo; Eyal Shnaps fell 6-1, 6-0 at seconds; and Adam Goldfarb lost 6-0, 6-0 at thirds.

The Tigers topped Princeton Day School 5-0 on Wednesday. Willig overcame Brett Carty 6-2, 6-0 at first single; Shnaps beat Kal Vepuri 6-4, 6-4 at seconds; and Goldfarb beat Mike France 6-0, 6-0 at thirds.

In doubles play, Prevost and Pine won 6-1, 6-2 over Chris Jacobi and Andrew Harrington. Chen and Krause beat Garrett Sussman and Craig Weissman 6-2, 6-2.

The previous day, the Tigers had spanked Hamilton 5-0. Shnaps beat his man 6-0, 6-1 at second singles, and that was the closest match of the afternoon.

Princeton played Ewing on Tuesday, too late for this issue. On Wednesday the Tigers visit Notre Dame, and on Thursday they host Lawrenceville, both matches beginning at 4 p.m. On Friday, PHS travels to Trenton, for its final match before next week's Mercer County Tournament.

#S419 - 10 Week Old Puppy

Mixed Breed - Male

Do you remember me? I was in the paper last week with my brothers. I'm happy to say that my litter mates were all adopted. But I'm sad that no one chose me. Well, I'm going to focus on the future and think about my new owner. I hope I am adopted while I am still young. A little pup needs lots of love and attention, someone who will take a little time each day to teach me and show me all the special things in the world.

Human Services Department

disagreed Township Committeewoman Michelle Tuck-Ponder. "Civil rights does not appropriately fit into providing human services."

The Civil Rights Commission is a joint agency composed of Borough and Township volunteers. It meets on a monthly basis with the director of civil rights to go over the municipal civil rights effort.

Committeeman Steve Frakt said he could not support the formation of the Human Services Department if it included the Civil Rights Office. He added that if the new department were approved, it would need to include a staff member devoted to civil rights.

After suggesting that if civil rights was not enfolded into the new department, it should be given a budget of $500 — an idea that angered several at the meeting — Councilman Roger Martindell stood up and walked to the lectern.

Current Work Unacceptable

After noting that he has been involved in a great deal of litigation in support of the civil rights of Princeton residents, Mr. Martindell said that the work of the Civil Rights Commission was totally unacceptable, and has been so for the 12 years he has been involved in the commission.

"In the last 12 years, two successive directors have been discharged for inadequate performance," he said. "This has cost tens of thousands of dollars in litigation. We have spent half a million dollars [on the Office of Civil Rights] and have produced almost nothing. We are funding the civil rights office at $40,000 a year, and we can't tolerate the status quo any longer."

The councilman than asked where the Civil Rights Commission had been during the recent 100th anniversary celebration of Paul Robeson's birth and the 30th anniversary of the death of Dr. Martin Luther King.

He also referred to a comment by former Township Mayor James Floyd about the lack of affirmative action in awarding contracts for the Borough Hall renovation, and asked where the Civil Rights Commission had been on this as well.

Responding to Mr. Martindell, Councilwoman Mildred Trotman said, "This is a slap in the face of every minority in the community. I'm not going to support this proposal. It will send a negative message to the community."

Mr. Nabors said he was personally very offended at Mr. Martindell's remarks, calling them "a personal affront, slanderous, and libelous."

"He said I have been wasting my time in the time I've been director," continued Mr. Nabors. "He is absolutely wrong in his perspective. He has hardly been present at any events, and not once has he called my office."

Ms. Tuck-Ponder moved that Township Committee approve the new department, with deletion of any reference to the Civil Rights Department. She was supported only by Mr. Frakt.

Borough Council then approved the formation of the new Human Services Department. In favor were Mr. Martindell, Ms. Starr, and Mr. Goldfarb. Both Ms. Trotman and Bill Slover voted against it.

At Mr. Goldfarb's insistence, the agreement was altered to include allowing the Civil Rights Commission and the Commission on Aging to continue in existence through the end of the year.

Township Committee members Roz Denard and Leonard Godfrey, along with Mayor Phyllis Marchand, then voted to approve the new department. Voting against approval were Ms. Tuck-Ponder and Mr. Frakt.

$94,500 Budget Approved

The Human Services Department's annual budget of $94,500 was also approved by the two governing bodies.

The Human Services Department will serve as the Local Assistance Board for the Township and Borough. It will also assume the responsibility of the Princeton Joint Commission on Civil Rights and the Joint Commission on aging; will provide services to senior citizens in the Princeton community; and will establish programs and conduct periodic needs assessments to provide for the needs of the youth of the community.

The operation of the Senior Resource Center will continue to be handled through a contract with a private agency. This amount is not included in the department's budget.

Overseeing the Department of Human Services will be a newly formed Princeton Human Services Commission. It will consist of six members from the Borough and six from the Township. Of the initial appointments, the two municipalities will each appoint one member each from their existing Local Assistance Board, existing Joint Civil Rights Commission, and existing Commission on Aging. In addition, they will appoint one member each from an organization providing services or programs for the youth of Princeton; and two citizens at large from each municipality.

The director of the new department will function as the community's director of welfare.

PEOPLE in the News

James M. McPherson, Randall Road, a Pulitzer Prize author and well-known Civil War scholar, has won the 1998 Lincoln Prize from the Lincoln and Soldiers Institute at Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pa. The annual award recognizes excellence in Civil War studies.

James M. McPherson

Mr. McPherson's book, For Couse ond Comrodes: Why Men Fought in the Civil Wor, an examination of the diaries and letters written by soldiers in the Civil War, was judged the best such work of 1997.

The George Henry Davis Professor of American History at Princeton University, Mr. McPherson received $30,000 and a bronze bust of Lincoln based on Augustus St. Gaudens' life-sized sculpture, "Lincoln the Man." An awards ceremony was held on April 16, at the Union League in New York City.

Mr. McPherson, who has published 15 books on the Civil War, received the Pulitzer Prize in history, the Christopher Award, and the Best Book Award of the American Military Institute for his book Bottle Cry of Freedom: The Civil Wor Ero, published in 1988.

Mr. McPherson has taught at Princeton University since 1962. He earned his bachelor's degree from Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., and his doctorate from Johns Hopkins University.

Mary L. Harrison

Mary L. Harrison, Grover Avenue, has been named catering manager for Regency Caterers by Hyatt. Regency Caterers is the off-premise catering division of the Hyatt Regency, Princeton.

Ms. Harrison will be responsible for planning all aspects of both corporate and social events being held at locations other than the hotel.

Before joining Regency Caterers, Ms. Harrison was catering director at Nassau Street Caterers and was catering manager at Prospect House, Princeton University. She has also held positions as a food stylist and as a wedding and events coordinator.

Zachary Price, Grover Avenue, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship at the University of Copenhagen. Mr. Price is a senior at Stanford University, majoring in modern thought and literature, with a minor in Slavic languages and literature.

His award at the Kierkegaard Research Center at the University of Copenhagen is an extension of his Stanford senior honors thesis. While in Denmark, Mr. Price will take intensive Danish language classes; he will extend his research on Danish philosopher Sören Kierkegaard and Kierkegaard's background as a Danish intellectual.

Mr. Price, a 1994 graduate of Princeton High School, will also study the intellectual culture of mid-19th century Denmark and Kierkegaard's relationship to it.

The partners of Ford Farewell Mills and Gatsch, Architects, Mapleton Road, have promoted Hopewell resident Alison Baxter to the position of senior associate. Ms. Baxter serves as the firm's senior programmer and project architect.

She has played a significant role in many of the firm's most important commissions, including the renovation of the Old Graduate College at the Princeton University; a major addition to Princeton Day School; and the new Civic Square Building for Rutgers University.

Currently project manager for a new courthouse for Middlesex County, Ms. Baxter holds a bachelors degree in architecture from the NJ Institute of Technology and a B.A. degree from Harvard University.

Caryn Elizabeth Lee, 17, a senior at Princeton High School, was the first prize winner at the Mercer County Performing Arts Talent Show held recently at the Rider University Fine Arts Theatre.

Ms. Lee, daughter of Wei-li and Linda Eckert Lee, is a dancer and former nationally-ranked rhythmic gymnast. She won a $5,000 scholarship at the competition, which was sponsored by the Trenton Rotary Club.

Students representing 16 public and private Mercer County high schools competed in the event, and performed in front of a capacity audience.

Ms. Lee has studied jazz and tap at the University of the Arts in Philadelphia and ballet and jazz at the Princeton Ballet School. In 1993, she won the New Jersey Governor's Cup for rhythmic gymnastics at the Garden State Games. She will use her scholarship to attend Duke University in the fall, where she plans to major in biology and minor in dance.

Seniors at several Princeton schools have received certificates from the Tandy Technology Scholars program, a nationwide program that recognizes the top 2 percent of graduating seniors for academic achievement.

Princeton High School (PHS) students who received certificates were Nicholas Chang, Antonia Faustina Chen, Laura Judith Feiveson, Golbahar Kamarei, and Christopher Prevost.

Certificates were also awarded to Hun School students Mark Angelo Cruz Santos and Andrew Evan Gelfand and to Stuart Country Day School students Katryna Carter and Justyna Piasecka.

Each school that participates in the program may nominate a senior who is outstanding in mathematics, science or computer science, as well as an outstanding teacher. Nominated outstanding student at PHS was Rebecca Price; James Wu was the Hun School nominee; and Alicia Fruscione was nominated by Stuart Country Day School.

Outstanding teacher nominees were Matthew Treichel at The Hun School and Jacqueline O'Gorman at Stuart Country Day School.

Alison Baxter

Princeton resident, Rosalie Maldonado, a student at Rider University, was recently inducted into the Phi Sigma Tau national honor society for philosophy.
Ms. Maldonado, a junior, is majoring in elementary education and Spanish.

Timothy W. Egan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Egan, Province Line Road, has received high honors for the winter term from Westminster School, Simsbury, Conn.

Patricia Lamb

Princeton students receiving honors from the school were Anna L. Critchlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Critchlow, Dodds Lane; and Roy C. Lynam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terrance J. Lynam, Highland Terrace.

The American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE) recently awarded an "Early Career Healthcare Executive Award" to Patricia Lamb, Hamilton Avenue, vice president of operations at the Medical Center at Princeton.

The award is given annually to a member of ACHE who demonstrates leadership ability, innovative and creative management, and capability in developing his or her organization. Ms. Lamb was one of only two award recipients in New Jersey in 1998.

In addition to her work at the Medical Center and her membership in the ACHE, Ms. Lamb is a member of the NJ Hospital Association and the Association of Healthcare Executives of New Jersey.

She is a former board member of the Senior Resource Center of Princeton; and she serves as a Borough representative to the Princeton Commission on Aging.

Ms. Lamb received her undergraduate degree in health education from the College of Mount Saint Vincent, Riverdale, N.Y. She has a master's degree in health and hospital services administration from George Washington University, Washington, D.C. She has been at the Medical Center since 1987.

Family Advice Column:

"SEXUAL HARASSMENT"

By the Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

The Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

QUESTION: Our Church has been talking a lot about sexual harassment. Could you tell us more about it? What is it? Why is it wrong? Who does it?

ANSWER: Let me try to help you with the following information:

1. DEFINITION: Sexual harassment is when inappropriate and unwanted sexual advances are made by one person to another.

2. BEHAVIORS: This can involve a wide range of behaviors, such as: sexually-oriented humor or language, displaying suggestive posters or calendars, making comments about one's clothing or appearance, making repeated requests for a date, prolonged hugs, fondling, staring at someone, facial expressions (winking or throwing kisses), making sexual gestures with one's hands or body, using nicknames with sexual connotations (hunk, babe, doll), and asking questions about someone's sexual preference or behavior.

3. CATEGORIES: These relate to someone's place of employment.

a. Quid Pro Quo: This is demanding sexual favors in return for a promotion, a raise, a better office, or more vacation. This requires unequal power, usually an employer over an employee.

b. Hostile Environment: Behaviors that are allowed to continue and, therefore, make the work environment offensive and intimidating. While the employer may not have been the abuser, he or she is still guilty if they have failed to stop the behavior. And, no complaint does not mean no harassment, as the victim may feel scared to speak to their employer.

4. WHY IS IT WRONG? This is an abuse of power where one person forces their unwanted behavior on another. An employer (or pastor, or anyone in charge) is expected to put the needs of others before their own. Not doing so harms other people and destroys trust. Often, mistrust is generalized: to all men if the abuser were a man, or to the church and God if the abuser were a priest.

5. THE LAW: The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and its amendment of 1991 holds that it is the IMPACT of the behavior that determines harassment, not the INTENT of the actor. The law does state, however, that this is based upon a reasonable person, not someone who is oversensitive.

6. WHO DOES IT?: Some abusers are immature, angry, and insecure. For example, some male employers or supervisors who fear being rejected while dating may approach a female employee at work, feeling more in control. Others may displace anger about women's liberation or an assertive wife onto a woman at work.

Others may suffer from a personality disorder, or have a sexual addiction, or both. The sex addict tries to fill the emptiness they feel with sex; as that is not always available, they may use food or alcohol to do the same. Sexual addictions develop over years, going from pornography and strip shows, to sexual harassment, to incest and rape.

7. LITMUS TEST: If you ever wonder whether your jokes or comments ere crossing over into harassment, ask yourself whether you would say the same if your spouse were present, or whether you would feel comfortable if your comments were published in the next parish newsletter.

RELIGION

Sisters of St. Paul Will Celebrate Jubilee

The Sisters of Saint Paul Convent will celebrate Jubilee '98 at a special liturgy on Sunday, April 26, at 11:30 a.m. in Saint Paul Church. This will mark the 125th anniversary of the arrival of seven Sisters of Mercy in Princeton.

After the liturgy there will be a visit to Saint Paul Cemetery, where six Sisters of Mercy are buried, and a visit to the new addition to the school building. This will be followed by refreshments.

Saint Paul School in Princeton opened under that name in 1850, founded by the pastor, the Rev. John Scollard, and staffed by laymen from the parish. In 1879, the Rev. Thomas R. Moran, then pastor, traveled to Manchester, N.H., where, he had heard, the Sisters of Mercy had a motherhouse and several thriving schools. His hope was that some of these sisters coufd also staff Saint Paul School.

Seven sisters volunteered for the Princeton mission and arrived in time to open classes in September 1878.

A notice in the Princeton Press, dated October, 1898, reads in part, "We learn from Father Moran that the school for Catholic children of both sexes recently reopened under his supervision, contains two to three hundred pupils. These are under the care and tuition of the Sisters of Mercy from Manchester, New Hampshire; and we further understand that the utmost order prevails in this school and the morals of the children are greatly conserved."

Bargains, Entertainment, At Unitarian Spring Fair

The Unitarian Church of Princeton's annual spring fair will be held Saturday, May 2, at the church, 50 Cherry Hill Road, from 10 to 4.

It will feature clowns, a steam calliope, the YWCA Tumblebus, a midway, story telling, and an acting workshop.

There will be a dozen booths offering plants, books, prints, electronics, toys, sports equipment, clothing, jewelry, furniture and housewares at flea market prices.

Also planned is a silent auction, as well as a live auction from 11 to noon.

There will be outdoor grilled food as well as food served indoors.

Proceeds wilf benefit more than 20 area charities, Incfuding Meals on Wheels, Mercer Alliance for the Mentally Ill, Womanspace, HomeFront, and the Hyacinth AIDS Foundation.

Symposium Is Planned On the Death Penalty

The New Jersey Council of Churches will hold a symposium on the death penalty on Monday, April 27, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Contemporary Club, 176 West State Street, Trenton. The event is aimed at educating people in faith communities and in the public on this issue.

Among the featured speakers will be Bishop Joe Morris Doss of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey; James McCloskey, director of Centurion Ministries in Princeton, which has won the release of a number of people on death row by proving their innocence; former Representative Dick Zimmer; and Bianca Jagger.

The cost for the symposium is $10 per person, which includes lunch. To register, send name, address, and telephone number along with check to NJ Council of Churches, 176 West State Street, Trenton 08608; or call 396-9546.

The Rev. Dr. Dorothy Austin, associate professor of religion and psychology at Drew University and an ordained Episcopal minister, will be the guest preacher at the Princeton University Chapel on Sunday, April 26, at 11 a.m. This will be a special service which is part of Pride Week, a University program sponsored by the Dean of Student Life Office and the Lesbian Gay & Bisexual Alliance.

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Penna Rose, will sing "Come, Let Us Worship God" from All Night Vigil, by Sergei Rachmaninoff. The Princeton University Jazz Ensemble will also be participating in the service. Joan T. Lippincott, Principal University organist, will be the accompanist

Childcare is provided for children under the age of 5 in Murray-Dodge Hall.

OBITUARIES

Frances Clark, of Kingston, 93, nationally known teacher, author and lecturer in the field of piano pedagogy, and president of The New School for Music Study, Kingston, died April 17 in The Medical Center at Princeton.

A native of Sturgis, Michigan, she received an A.B. degree from Kalamazoo College in 1928, and did graduate study in music at the University of Michigan, the Juilliard School of Music, the Paris Conservatory and the American Academy at Fontainebleau.

She served as director of piano pedagogy at Kalamazoo College from 1945 to 1955, when she joined Westminster Choir College in Princeton as chair of its piano department. She was adjunct professor of piano pedagogy there from 1981 to 1994.

In 1960 she and Louise Goss founded The New School for Music Study, the only research center devoted exclusively to the development of piano teaching methods and materials. Thousands of Princeton area children have studied piano at The New School, and the graduates of its professional department serve on the music faculties of colleges, universities and music schools across the country.

Since 1981 The New School and Westminster Choir College have offered a joint Master's degree in piano pedagogy and performance

Beginning in 1953, Miss Clark and Louise Goss produced a series of educational materials, The Frances Clark Library for Piano Students, published by Summy-Birchard, Inc. and distributed internationally by Time Warner. Miss Clark's column, "Questions And Answers," a monthly feature of Clavier magazine for 26 years, was published in book form in 1993. She is the subject of a 1992 documentary video, Conversations with Frances Clark.

Last May, Westminster Choir College awarded her the honorary Doctor of Music Degree, lauding her as the "first lady of American piano pedagogy." On April 24, the Irving S. Gilmore International Keyboard Festival of Kalamazoo, Mich., will dedicate its Master Class programs to Dr. Clark.

Other honors have included an honorary Doctor of Music Degree from Kalamazoo College (1963), the first Lifetime Achievement Award from the National Conference on Piano Pedagogy, the Distinguished Achievement Award of the Music Teachers National Association, and the Women of Distinction Award from Rutgers University.

Miss Clark belonged to the New Jersey Music Teachers Association of which she was co-founder, the Music Teachers National Association, Alpha Sigma Iota, and the National Society of Arts and Letters. She was a member of Nassau Presbyterian Church where she served as a deacon and for a time chaired the Prison Visitation Committee.

She is survived by a nephew, Dr. Robert E. Neale, of

Frances Clark

Burlington, Vt., and nine great nephews and nieces. Burial will be in Sturgis, Mich. Arrangements are under the direction of the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home. A memorial service will be held at a later date at Nassau Presbyterian Church in Princeton.

Contributions may be made to the Endowment Fund of The New School for Music Study, Box 360, Kingston 08528.

Norman Frederiksen, 89, Brookstone Drive, died April 18 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born on a homestead in Kit Carson County, Colo., in 1909, he was raised in Fairbury, Nebraska. He graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University, received his M.A. in Psychology from the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and his Ph.D from Syracuse University.

He came to Princeton as an instructor in psychology at Princeton University in 1937, later serving as an associate professor and director of the Counselling Center.

During the war, he served as a psychologist for the Navy, pioneering performance testing. His war-time work led to his joining the Educational Testing Service on a part-time basis when it was founded in 1947. In 1955 he left Princeton University to accept a full-time position at ETS, later becoming Director of Research.

He was well-known for his innovative use of simulations for the assessment and prediction of problem solving in organizational, scientific, and medical settings. An assessment and training technique he developed in his work, known as the "in-basket" method, is now used by corporations and governments throughout the world.

Among his many professional contributions, he served as president of the division on measurement and evaluation of the American Psychological Association, and as a member of the board of trustees of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute. He received the American Psychological Association's Award for Distinguished Professional Contributions to Knowledge in 1984.

After his retirement in 1980, he continued ot author numerous scientific papers concerned with innovation in educational and psychological testing, editing two books in this area.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret; by two sons, John of Berkeley, Calif., and Carl of Montreal, Canada; five grandchildren, and a brother, Loyd, of Washington, D.C.

A memorial service will be held at a time to be announced.

Arrangements are under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Edward Hofgesang, 75, died April 17 at Monroe Village Care Center. Born in Newark, he lived in Princeton from 1955 until moving to Monroe Village in 1996.

He was a U.S. Army Air Force veteran of World War II.

He graduated from Montclair State College and earned a master's degree in government administration from the Wharton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania.

He retired in 1983 after 31 years with the State of New Jersey, much of it as deputy director and later director of budgeting and accounting.

He was a member of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, the Intergovernmental Relations Commission, the Commission of Capital Budgeting and Planning, the Governing Board of the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency, and was a former president of the National Association of State Budget Officers.

In 1985 he was named New Jersey's public administrator of the year.

Husband of the late Anna S. Hofgesang, he is survived by two sons, Thomas E. of Princeton and Paul J. of Mount Laurel; and two granddaughters.

Funeral services were held Monday at All Saints' Church, Princeton. Interment was in Trinity All Saints' Cemetery. Arrangements were by Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, Princeton.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 529, Princeton 08542.

Memorial Service

A memorial service for Virginia W. Kilborne, who died April 10, will be held Saturday, May 16, at 11 a.m. at Nassau Presbyterian Church, Princeton.

Ruth F. LeGates, 83, of West Windsor, died April 14 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Maplewood, she lived in Union and Edison before moving to West Windsor 25 years ago.

She was a former member of the Sharon chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star in Union.

She is survived by her husband, Roland; three sons, Roland C. of Woodbridge, William H. of Somerset, and James R. of Oakdale, Pa.; two sisters, Hazel Inglesby of Union and Doris Kozak of Colonia; three grandchildren; and a great-granddaughter.

Funeral services were held Friday at the chapel at Franklin Memorial Park Cemetery, North Brunswick. Interment was in Franklin Memorial Park Mausoleum.

Arrangements were under the direction of Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, Princeton.

Margaret Schmidt, 81, of Princeton, died April 14 at the Princeton Nursing Home.

A resident of Princeton for more than 40 years, Mrs. Schmidt had served in administrative positions at several small Princeton-area businesses.

She is survived by two daughters, Anne Hammond of Yardville and Karen Schmidt of South Brunswick Township; a son, Henry E. of Palm Beach, Fla.; and seven grandchildren.

Interment will be private. Arrangements were under the direction of The Kimble Funeral Home, Princeton.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Paul's Church Health Ministry, 214 Nassau Street, Princeton 08542.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Twin carriage lamps atop graceful brick walls announce the driveway to this handsome Colonial with its soft-hued brick facade. The front door, framed by luxuriant holly trees, opens to a gracious center hall with hardwood floor which flows throughout the first floor. The living room, with tall windows, has folding doors to the inviting family room. Here, a wet bar, brick wall with fireplace, and sliding glass doors to a deck. The dining room is formal. A spacious light-filled kitchen has a breakfast area with bay of casement windows. Nearby, the powder and laundry rooms. On the second floor, the master bedroom, with well-appointed master bath, opens to an intimate sitting room, and three bedrooms share a hall bath. Centered on its attractive Lawrence Township lot, this Colonial is pleasantly surrounded by lawns with specimen trees and shrubs. Minutes from downtown Princeton - and with a Princeton address.

NEWSPAPER REPORTER

TOWN TOPICS, Princeton's 51-year old weekly newspaper, needs a reporter willing to be involved with many aspects of publishing.

Primary responsibilities will be reporting and writing of sports, police news, features and general news. Other duties include paste-up in the final stages of production and help with distribution on publication day (some lifting required).

A solid background in writing is a must – and newspaper experience or journalism school would be a plus. Word processing is also necessary.

We offer a competitive salary, annual vacation, Christmas bonus, medical benefits, parking, profit-sharing plan.

TWO SISTERS
BOTH CHARMING - BOTH SPECIAL

PRINCETON SISTER... A serpentine brick walk and terrace with a delightful arbor lead to the entrance of this delightful English cottage. A tree-lined street in Princeton Township is the setting for this marvelous property. Inside you will find a wood-paneled great room with ceiling beams, fireplace and built-in bookcases, a small country kitchen with access to outdoors. A hallway leads to two bedrooms and bath and there is plenty of storage in the full, floored attic. In addition there is a full basement and one-car garage. A lovely cottage in a great Princeton neighborhood with character, charm and a storybook quality! Why settle for the ordinary when the extraordinary can be yours? Offered at $265,000

CRANBURY SISTER... Who says good looks don't last? Just wait until you see this handsome circa 1856 Victorian located in the historic district of Cranbury. It offers fine craftsmanship and a sense of tradition which gives the house an old world look. On the first floor you will find a spacious living room with fireplace, an appealing dining room with large bay, large kitchen, family room with Dutch door to the lovely screened porch overlooking the garden, TV room and powder room. The second floor contains a master bedroom and bath, 3 family bedrooms and hall bath, plus a small office. There is a full basement, lovely terrace and two-car garage. The pleasing proportions of the rooms and graceful details such as leaded glass windows are a gentle reminder of the past in a house where past and present blissfully harmonize. Offered at $345,000

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

HELP!

It's the day that you close on the sale of your home, and the buyers are a little cranky. During the walk-through inspection, your dependable old dishwasher stops midway through its cycle, and the faucet in the guest bathroom develops a steady drip. These situations may cause some anxiety for the buyers and sellers, but such problems are quite common and usually easy to resolve.

Most purchase agreements require that the major mechanical systems and the appliances being conveyed are in working order at the time of the closing. Defects are often discovered during the structural inspection, allowing the sellers have plenty of time to have the repairs made. Occasionally there are last-minute breakdowns or defects that are not spotted until the walk-through inspection. In that case, an agreement can be made with the sellers at the closing to escrow funds for the repair or replacement of the items in question.

For dependable individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Please feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below. Please ask about: Lower Downpayments · Lower Monthly Payments · Other Options

For purchase prices up to $283,925, monthly mortgage payments (principal + interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 6.75% with 3 points, A.P.R. 7.109%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $648.60. For purchase prices from $283,926 to $625,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 7.00% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 7.316%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,326.51. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of Jan. 2, 1998, and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors; while information is believed accurate, we request that the payment be validated with a mortgage provider prior to purchase.

Elegant materials and finishes...
Impeccably maintained

The welcoming double doors of this attractive stucco and cedar house open to a sun-splashed 2 story foyer, with marble floor and clerestory window. Elegant finishes and materials chosen by the owner bring additional graciousness to the rooms; rich crown molding, mullioned and transom windows, gleaming floors of hardwood, marble and tile. The living room, with 18' ceiling and fireplace, has French doors opening to an elliptical patio. Nearby, the powder room. The dining room is formal. Cherry cabinetry and brass track lighting accent the library, with wet bar. The gourmet kitchen, with center island and breakfast bar, and charming breakfast area with bay window overlook the family room. Here, a 14' ceiling, recessed lights, fireplace and doors to the patio. Also, on this floor, the master bedroom and glamorous master bath. Upstairs, a hallway overlooking the foyer and living room, a bedroom with bath and two bedrooms with connecting bath. Impeccably maintained, in Montgomery Township.
